BRITISH, SOVIETS INVADE IRAN

Capital Stirred By Churchill Warning

HINT OF RIFT BETWEEN U. S., JAPAN NOTED

Observers Speculate on Vow of British Aid If Showdown Comes.

DISCUSSES HITLER PLAN

Prime Minister Admonishes America on German Conquest Program.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Winston Churchill's pointed emphasis on the delicate situation in the Far East attracted much attention here today, for the British prime minister seemed to intimate that the danger of trouble between the United States and Japan was greater than between Japan and Britain.

Most of the diplomatic speculation centered on Churchill's pledge that Britain would stand by the United States in the event of a showdown in the Orient.

Pending a careful study of Churchill's report on his meeting with President Roosevelt, congressional comment was slow in forthcoming, but the opinion seemed to be that Japan had been given a warning that could not be misunderstood.

Churchill, diplomatic sources noted, bracketed Singapore and the Philippines specifically as the two spots immediately menaced by the present Japanese expansion southward in Asia. Thereafter, however, the stress was on the efforts of the United States to preserve peace in the Far East.

Until Churchill spoke yesterday, the general belief was that British interests would be the ones immediately menaced by any new Japanese move. However, the prime minister's words indicated that the situation contained elements of importance to the United States that were not apparent on the surface.

Besides the Far East, another discussion-provoking topic was the length to which Churchill went in admonishing the United States to have no illusions

INJURIES FATAL

Loudonville Selectee, Hurt In Maneuvers, Dies.

LOUDONVILLE—William Dete, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dete, of three miles west of here, a selectee stationed at Camp Claybourne, La., was dead today of injuries received while on maneuvers.

In a brief telegram to the youth's parents, federal authorities did not disclose details concerning the youth's death. Neither did the message say where the accident occurred.

Young Dete, inducted in April, was reported to have been injured Saturday night. He died in a hospital Sunday, the message said.

Surviving besides the parents are a sister, Mrs. John Kilbane, Cleveland, and two brothers, Victor, Cleveland, and James, at home. Funeral arrangements are pending.

Killed In Crash

Bound for home with his parents and two small sisters after a vacation trip, Richard Eugene Mapes, 6, Mansfield, shown above, was fatally injured Saturday night in a four-car crash near Zanesville. The child died in a Zanesville hospital a few minutes after he was admitted.

3,000 GO BACK TO SHIPYARDS

Full Operation Expected By Tuesday as Navy Takes Over Kearny Plant.

(By Associated Press)

Three thousand workers, vanguard of 18,000, headed back to work today under navy management at the plant of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company in Kearny, N. J.

CIO's industrial union of marine and shipbuilding workers, who tied up half a billion dollars of ship construction with their strike call August 7, voted yesterday to end their walkout in view of President Roosevelt's order Saturday that the navy take over the yards. It was expected that full operations would be underway Tuesday.

The union will negotiate with the navy over its demand for a maintenance-of-union contract clause which would provide for dismissal of workers who failed to pay their dues. This clause was what caused the company to balk at accepting a national mediation board recommendation for settlement of the dispute.

Another jurisdictional dispute which had threatened a tieup in seven Great Lakes yards of the American Shipbuilding company was headed off when competing AFL and CIO unions agreed to a bargaining election.

In this case, the AFL, seeking sole bargaining rights, had threatened to call its members off production on $25,000,000 of defense orders.

Hugh E. Sperry, regional director of the national labor relations board in Cleveland, announced that the election would be held Friday and all of the company's 2,400 workers would be eligible to vote. The dispute involved two yards in Buffalo and one each in Cleveland, Toledo, Lorain, South Chicago and Superior, Wis.

21 KILLED IN OHIO; COUNTY HAS 'HOLIDAY'

Mansfield and Vicinity Escape Accident Toll, No Injuries For Week-End Reported.

8 DRIVERS ARRESTED

Body of Mansfield Boy, Killed In Mishap Near Zanesville, Arrives In City.

Although highways were jammed with traffic, Richland county and Mansfield escaped without a traffic injury over the week-end as 21 persons lost their ..ves in mishaps in the state. It was one of the few week-ends in the past year in which no one was injured in the county.

A six-year-old Mansfield boy was killed Saturday night near Zanesville, however, and three other members of his family were injured, none seriously.

Eight motorists were cited in the Mansfield area for traffic violations, one as the result of a minor accident Saturday night at Springmill and Cedar streets.

The body of Richard Eugene Mapes, the Mansfield boy who died in the crash near Zanesville Saturday night, is at the Geiger funeral home to remain until funeral services are held Wednesday at 9:30 a. m., at St. Peter's Catholic church.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mapes, 144 East Luther place, slightly injured in the accident, were able to return home today. Mrs. Mapes was treated at Bethesda hospital in Zanesville and Mapes at Mansfield General hospital. She is recovering from shock and minor bruises, while he suffered an eye injury.

A four-year-old daughter, Doris Ann, at first reported seriously hurt in the crash, was brought to the home of relatives in Mansfield yesterday where it was said she is recovering. An examination revealed the girl received only cuts and bruises, but escaped serious injury.

A third child, Janice, 3, who was sleeping on her mother's lap in the front seat, was not hurt.

The Mapes family was returning home from a vacation in Tennessee when the accident occurred

NAMES BIDDLE

FDR Chooses Solicitor as New Attorney General.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt nominated Francis Biddle, solicitor general of the justice department, today to be attorney general of the United States.

Biddle will move up to the post vacated when Robert H. Jackson was appointed to the supreme court. It is expected that Charles Fahy, assistant solicitor general, will become Biddle's successor.

Biddle before going to the justice department had served as a federal circuit judge in Pennsylvania.

BEGIN HEARINGS

CINCINNATI—(INS)—The U. S. civil service commission today began public hearings on charges that 11 employes of the Cincinnati office of the state bureau of unemployment compensation violated the federal Hatch act, which forbids political activity by anyone paid wholly or in part with federal funds.

Places Mansfield Eighth In New Home Building In Ohio

With the release today of a national survey showing Mansfield ranking eighth in Ohio in new home building since 1930, records indicate that 1941 construction will make this a peak year.

With only seven months of the year figured, building permits issued since January 1 show that $1,235,042 worth of homes has already been built, 20 per cent more than for the same period in 1940.

The survey released today by D. E. Ryan, vice president of Investors Syndicate, national industrial survey agency, shows that home building in Mansfield last year reached the highest value and volume levels in eleven years. Figures for this year indicate that this will be surpassed.

Ryan reported that there were 11,001 dwelling units in the city last April 1, according to the U. S. Bureau of Census. Of these, 949, or only 8.6 per cent, were built between January 1, 1931 and March 31, 1940.

"Mansfield," said Ryan, "provided new homes in 1940 for 1,220 people, a gain of 240, or 24.5 per cent over 1939, when new homes were built for 980 persons.

"New housing in 1940 was provided for 832 persons, 214 per cent more than in 1930. Mansfield building for last year alone ranked ninth in Ohio."

While residences erected in Mansfield last year were valued at $1,440,100, a gain of 33 per cent over 1939's level of $1,081,500, this year's accumulation of $1,235,042, maintaining a 20 per cent

'BRAWLS' SEND 2 TO HOSPITAL

Four Men Arrested as Result of Series of Fights; Hunt Woman In Stabbing.

What police and county authorities described as three week-end brawls in the Mansfield area sent two persons to General hospital for treatment for injuries and resulted in the arrest of four men.

Jay Hunter, 24, and his brother, Glenn, 27, Eighth avenue, were to go before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston today after they allegedly "beat up" Ed Stevens, of 201 East Fourth street, at their home Sunday afternoon.

Jay Hunter, who is on probation in common pleas court, was cited for assault, and his brother for driving while under the influence of alcohol. They were arrested by Sheriff Frank E. Robinson. Stevens was in General hospital for treatment.

Also in the hospital was Esther Eubanks, 21, colored, of 226½ North Main street, who was stabbed in the chest Saturday night during an altercation at the Picket Fence club on North Diamond street, police said. Officers were still seeking another colored girl who witnesses said stabbed the Eubanks woman and then fled.

Arrested early Sunday by deputy sheriffs following a fight in a tavern at Vernon Junction, George Adkins, 39, Davey hotel, Mansfield, and Clifford Bowman, 32, Shelby, were fined $10 and costs this morning in Mansfield municipal court after they were found guilty on charges of being drunk and disorderly.

PREDICTS LOSS IN EMPLOYMENT

Magazine Steel Says Priority Ruling Hits Production.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — With some consumer plants already forced to suspend operations because of the all-out priority ruling, the Magazine Steel today predicted large-scale suspension of other consumer plants resulting in large unemployment in civilian production fields.

The recent decisions to cut passenger car production 26½ per cent during the four months starting Aug. 1 is one indication of the severity of the curtailment program, the magazine stated.

Fewest priority orders involve wire, cold-rolled sheets and strips, tin plate, galvanized sheets and hot-rolled sheets and strips.

Bromfield Mentioned as Dems' Hope For Governor

'Don't Want To Run and Probably Won't,' Novelist Says But He Leaves Door Open To Call.

Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield loomed today as a possible candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1942, although he said he would not be interested "unless the political picture in Ohio changes during the next year."

Mentioned by Parker La Moore, Columbus political writer, as the possible "new face" the Democrats have been seeking to oppose Gov. John W. Bricker, Bromfield was linked with Henry G. Brunner, Mansfield, former state Democratic chairman, as a "likely team" in the coming state primary campaign.

"I don't want to run and probably won't," Bromfield told The News-Journal. He added, however, that he "might consider it if I thought it would help the party."

The noted author declined to discuss what he might consider a "change in the political" picture that would make him interested in the nomination.

Bromfield said he has no political aspirations, but pointed out that the 1942 primary is still long way off and something may happen to change his mind.

He said a number of party leaders from Mansfield, Columbus, Cleveland, and other cities have been visiting him for several weeks trying to persuade him to enter the race for the nomination for governor. He did not identify the callers.

Bromfield is a close friend of Brunner who has been mentioned frequently as a choice for the Democratic state chairmanship. Brunner could not be reached today for a statement.

Bromfield, a life-long Democrat, considered running for the party's nomination for congressman in the 17th district two years ago, but dropped out of the race early because of the demands of his work.

ANNOYS NAZIS

Wave Crasher Has Last Word In German Newscast.

LONDON —(AP)— Germany's powerful radio station Deutschlander tried desperately last night to duck a new, mysterious, wave-length crasher, but the mocking voice had the last say.

When the news announced after a rapid-fire delivery blurted "and that ends the news" the voice was clearly heard in Britain shouting: "But the lying will continue tomorrow."

Trying to explain the voice, Deutschländer said: "The Bolsheviks tried to tune themselves in on one of our stands. Such methods are not a novelty. We used them in the Polish campaign. Countermeasures are being applied against the Russians."

HEAR CHARGES ON 'POLITICS'

U. S. Probes Illegal Political Activity in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI —(U.P.)— The first big test in Ohio of the scope of the federal hatch "clean politics" act began today in the federal building.

The U. S. civil service commission opened a hearing on charges that at least 11 employes in the Cincinnati office of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation were engaged in illegal political activity during the state and national campaigns last fall.

Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert said that an inquiry by his department of 100 BUC employes disclosed that four admitted having worked as election officials at the November polls. Whether this activity constituted a violation of the Hatch act, the attorney general could not say.

HEADS FOR HOME

Dog Picked Up by Seamen 3 Miles Off Long Island Sound.

HUNTINGTON, N. Y. —(INS)— Three miles off shore in the Long Island sound and heading for the Connecticut coast—another seven miles away—a water spaniel was miles away—a water spaniel was reported today.

The dog, who bore a license issued at Westport, Conn., apparently was attempting to swim home. Police theorized that the owner, picnicking on Long Island, had sailed away without the dog.

Troops March Across Borders On North, South

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON—A simultaneous British-Russian invasion of Iran was launched today — with British troops crossing the frontier of southern Iran along the Gulf of Persia and Soviet forces moving in from the Caucasus to the north.

Authoritative sources said Iran's army of about 190,000 men was resisting British-Russian invading forces.

The double move into the oil-rich desert kingdom backed up with military operations the demands of London and Moscow that modern Persia be rid of any German influences.

Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, former commander-in-chief in Egypt who was shifted several months ago in India, was reported in London to be in full charge of the new British operation.

British naval forces in the Persian gulf, commanded by Admiral Sir Geoffrey Arbuthnot, commander of the East Indian station, were said to have "taken necessary steps" to support the move.

* * *

British sources said they were unable to say whether Indian troops were involved in the advance and it was not known whether British forces had reached Iran's vast oil fields, which lie only about 80 miles northeast of neighboring Iraq's big southern port of Abra.

There was no official disclosure of exact points of entry into Iran either by British or Soviet troops—and none was expected until contact was made with Iranian forces.

(The most likely routes into the Moslem monarchy seemed to be northeast from southern Iraq for the British and south along the shores of the Caspian sea from the Azerbaijan republic for the Russians.

The Red fleet's control of the Caspian sea, observers in London said, made a direct expedition against Iran's seat of government at Teheran possible.

Iran was described as particularly vulnerable to air attack —with the Red air fleet operating from the Baku base on the Caspian sea within 330 miles of Teheran and British bombers within easy striking distance of the Persian gulf ports of Bushire and Bandar areas.

Any British advance from Baluchistan on the east, though it probably would encounter the least resistance, would have the roughest and longest road to travel before reaching any major objective.

REDS STRIKE AT FOE WITH TANKS

Massed Infantry Also Used In Counter Thrusts at Nazis; Troop Ships Sunk.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW — General Red army counterattacks with huge tanks, masses of infantry and swift-striking cavalry were reported today by the Russians as Soviet naval forces claimed the sinking of two out of four heavily laden German troop and munitions transports in the Baltic sea.

The Russians said that one Rumanian and two German divisions were routed and that three other Rumanian divisions lost 26,000 men.

Besides the two transports an escorting destroyer was sunk, the communique said. Of the two other transports, one was set afire and the other grounded, it was stated.

One German division was said to have been routed in the fiercely-contested Leningrad sector by a powerful Soviet tank attack across a battlefield carpeted with German dead.

Another, the Russians said, was

PROBE OPENS

Federal Examiner Launches Hatch Act Inquiry.

CINCINNATI — (AP) — The nation's first inquiry into alleged violations of the Hatch act prohibiting "pernicious political activity" by persons paid in whole or in part from federal funds was scheduled to open today before a federal civil service examiner.

Eleven employes of the Ohio bureau of unemployment compensation were called to answer charges growing out of the last election campaign. The 11 included Harry J. Patterson, Cincinnati manager, and E. B. Boggs of Lakewood, adjustment supervisor at Cleveland and a former claims supervisor here.

Harold M. Baron, assistant Ohio attorney general, and two other assistants, Harry Nail and Howard Bernstein, began preparing the state's case last week by questioning 90 Cincinnati LUC employes, most of them under oath. The state is an interested party since certain federal funds can be withheld if any of the defendants should be found guilty.

Committee Votes Slash In Income Tax Exemptions

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The senate finance committee voted today to reduce the personal income tax exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married couples and from $800 to $750 for single persons in order to add about $300,000,000 to the yield of the pending tax bill.

An estimated 6,000,000 persons, hitherto exempt from payment of income taxes, would be added to the nation's tax-paying roll under the move.

The lowered exemptions, proposed by the treasury department, reportedly were approved by a substantial vote. It was the first action taken by the senate group in a secret session on amendments to the bill which would have raised an estimated $2,236,700,000 in the form passed by the house.

The additional income from the lowered personal exemption would compensate for house elimination of a provision to require husbands and wives to file joint income tax returns.

PHILATELISTS?

Burglars Steal $72,000 In Food Stamps From Relief Office.

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)— Burglars stole $72,000 worth of federal relief food stamps, when they blew the safe at city relief headquarters over the week-end, police reported today.

The stamps are not convertible either into cash or food, according to S. B. Rowley, assistant relief commissioner.

Plan Test Removal Of Old Traction Car Lines In City

City council will be asked to appropriate $1,000 for the removal of a section of the city's abandoned street car rails as an experiment, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton announced today.

Informed by Mayor William J. Locke that the Works Progress Administration had told the mayor that no funds are available for removing rails, Crafton said that he would go ahead with a plan for removing the tracks on a sectional basis.

Because it is doubtful that the sale of the rails would bring sufficient funds to replace the pavement about them, Crafton will ask council to appropriate $1,000 in the removal of a section. If enough money is received from the rail sale to replace the pavement adequately, Crafton said he would suggest an extension of the program.

Approximately 28,000 feet of rails remain buried in city streets. City Engineer W. C. Statler has estimated that this would sell for approximately $6,600.

Several companies have volunteered to remove the rails and replace the pavement, taking the rails as payment. Crafton has told council that no guarantee can be made by these companies that the pavement will be replaced in a satisfactory manner.

GEN. JOHNSON: U. S. Asks Jobs for 200,000 Soldiers

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — The confusion and dismay about rationing gasoline in the East is a symptom of what is the matter with a great many things in the defense effort centering on Washington—lack of facts or failure to study facts and lack of planning or direction.

Johnson

In the first place is there any shortage? "Shortage" is a complicated term. It is not alone a lessening of gas in storage. It is that plus the rate by which demand and consumption exceed supply and transportation. It is now quite clear that there is no actual alarming shortage of gas in storage. Whether a shortage will develop, due to the transfer of our tankers to British use, is the real question.

Of course, supply will dwindle if the main reliance on quick bulk transportation is given away. But, even after giving it away, isn't there any other way to protect the public beside reducing its rations of this over-plentiful commodity?

There has been precious little study of that. All our Washington war-lords seem to be able to think of when they get themselves into a jam is "soak the public."

If they can't think fast to get up some excuses or justification for that, it won't be long before the public begins soaking them—and you can lay your last dollar on that.

Before this discussion became acute, this column timidly suggested, with no claim to personal expert knowledge, that a lot of gas could be towed in barges, even in the remaining tankers themselves and certainly by towage tugs—even on the sea lanes, except in very rough weather.

A lot of mail followed that column, some approving—some not. Of course it is not the ideal method. But I certainly would try something before putting all the burden on innocent by-standers, crimping some tens of thousands of small business people and throwing hundreds of thousands out of work.

Now I have on my desk a documented report (too long for this space) that there is a large tanker capacity on the Great Lakes, some of which could get through the canals and be used on the ocean and much of which will shortly be tied up for months by ice.

Nothing is being done about that either. It was so much easier to crack down on the public.

The 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. order drew Homeric laughter and groans of dismay from all filling stations. It was bound to result in "fill her up" orders at the pumps, as this column predicted, rather than the usual hand-to-mouth buying especially for family cars with several drivers—and gasoline consumption went up 8 per cent.

Now, putting rationing up to the filling stations is just as cock-eyed. Station A cuts John Jones down 10 per cent of some indefinite figure, so what does John do? He just drives around the corner and buys three more gallons from Station B.

There is only one way to do this—if it has to be done—and that is by ration cards. But the petroleum czar hasn't supplied any or provided any plan. Neither has he proved that there is any necessity for such drastic action.

Such convincing displays of thoughtless incompetence before so many people aren't doing any good for national morale. Yet they are being repeated in a dozen directions.

FAIR RECORDS BROKEN; RACING PROGRAM OPENS

63,000 Jam Columbus Grounds Sunday; $1,000 Event Tops Ten Heats Today.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O.—With all attendance records for a single day already broken as more than 63,000 persons jammed their way into the grounds Sunday, the 91st Ohio State Fair increased its tempo today with the opening of its five-day, $14,000 harness racing program.

Ten heats will be run in the four races scheduled, with the feature attraction the 2:15 trot, a three-heat, $1,000 event.

Fair Manager Win Kinnan estimated that "upwards of 50,000" would attend the fair today, and said that "even then maybe I'm a bit conservative." Despite a drenching rain which fell late yesterday afternoon, the attendance was officially given as 63,763, a gain of 22,446 over Sunday of last year, when rain also fell, and of 5,560 over the previous high established in 1939.

So far attendance this year exceeds that of last year by more than 28,000, Kinnan said.

Although today was officially termed "Pan-American and Good Neighbor Day," with women and children admitted free as is fair custom on Mondays, Agriculture Director John T. Brown had received no answers to his invitation to South American ambassadors who were invited to the celebration.

Judging was to begin in earnest as the farm assumed its true rural atmosphere. Judging of Belgians, sheep, cattle, swine, dairy products and farm produce begins and will continue all week, with more than $144,000 in premiums to be handed out to the winners.

Highlight of yesterday's program was the dedication of remodeled music hall by Mrs. John W. Bricker, wife of Ohio's governor. In her address, she stressed the trend toward cultural achievements at the exposition.

Up and Down THE STREET

The long arm of war is affecting Mansfield's mail delivery—to foreign countries at least. Although Mansfielders could formerly send insured or registered letters and parcels to almost any point on the globe, the advance of Hitler's forces has cut at least 18 countries from the eligible list. Postmaster Herman Homberger has had to scratch the names one by one from the official list posted in the lobby of the postoffice. Insured mail can no longer go to Belgium, Denmark, Egypt, Finland, Anglo-Egyption Sudan, Greece, Hungary, Italy, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Poland, Turkey and Yugoslavia. Registered parcels are banned for shipment to Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania and Spanish Guiana.

Staid and dignified newspaper editors of The Lorain Journel, the Columbus bureau of the Associated Press, and "The Mansfield News-Journal indulged in a bit of bingo-bango-bungo yesterday at Westbrook Country club as the News-Journal played host to the annual golf party of the three organizations. Bingo is a point for first on the green, bango is a point for the approach nearest the cup, and bungo is a point for the first in the can, and at a nickel or a dime or what-will-you per point it makes an interesting game. Dinner at the Mansfield-Leland was postponed nearly two hours while the stragglers were sinking their final bungo. And both the dinner and the bungo were worth waiting for.

SEEKS SPEEDY PLACEMENT OF EX-ARMY MEN

Selective Service Director Says Releases To Start Sept. 1.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Selective service Director Lewis B. Hershey asked local draft boards today to do everything in their power to find jobs for 200,000 soldiers who will be released from military service by Christmas.

Brig. Gen. Hershey directed state boards to co-operate with local units to insure speedy placement in civilian jobs all former soldiers, whether selectees or service men whose enlistment have expired.

Hershey said the army plans to begin releasing men Sept. 1.

"It is vital to the successful operation of the selective service system that the men who have answered the call of their country . . . be protected in their legal right to re-employment," Hershey said.

Hershey said it was a "moral responsibility imposed by law" to see that returning soldiers are returned to civilian jobs.

The Burke-Wadsworth conscription act stipulated that private employers must rehire employes taken into the army unless it is "impossible or unreasonable" for them to do so.

Under his re-employment plan, each state selective service director will designate a re-employment committeeman for each local board to handle job problems of returning soldiers and employers alike.

RED ARMY FLANKS BLUES

WITH THE SECOND ARMY IN ARKANSAS — (AP) — Red Kotmk, the fabled country of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri and Kentucky that is "invading" Blue Almat (Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee), opened a broad frontal attack today on the Blue seventh corps of the Second army in southwest Arkansas and simultaneously extended a wide flanking movement around the Blue battle line.

And thus was posed for the 75,000 Seventh corps men caught in pincers the fourth problem of the Arkansas maneuvers—that of strategic withdrawal to prepared positions in rolling country toward Camden.

First tips to the reversal of Almat strategy were provided when supply trains and field kitchens began to move eastward, away from the front. Engineering units and reserve infantry moved forward to front line positions, the former to prepare demolitions to impede the enemy, the latter to fight a rear guard action for the withdrawing divisions. Almat artillery, backing up the 20-mile battle line, redoubled its fire to cover the shift of troops and conceal the withdrawal of heavy weapons.

The "enemy," represented by Ohio's 107th cavalry, was presumed to have thrown eight divisions into the action, striking hardest at the 35th division of Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, holding the center of the line, and exerting increased pressure on the north and south flanks.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Speaking For Myself.

Sometimes I think the most elusive thing in the world is success, and then I think, no, the most elusive thing in the world is a waiter. So today I would like to discuss the problem of how to garner a garcon. Science hasn't gotten around to solving it — science hasn't progressed that far yet—but I have, in a minor and haphazard way.

Kilgallen

Most people make their initial mistake by the wrong approach to this question. They go on the theory that a waiter is so-called because he waits on people. That however, is an archaic definition of the word; actually a waiter is called a waiter because he makes people wait, and in any Broadway smart spot you can name a waiter as the fellow you can't find when you want him but who is practically in the soup and the conversation when you don't want him around.

* * *

I have figured out how to get him, however. I call my system the Eight-Point Plan, or the Dinner's Dragnet. If the first point doesn't succeed, try the next seven.

1—Make a grand entrance and a noisy one into the night club. Then cross the captain's palm with folding money. Anybody who will tip before he sees even a glass of water is as close as a waiter can get today to Diamond Jim Brady.

2—Purse your lips and make a loud kissing sounds as if you were starting off a horse. This is the way the owner and the captains call a waiter, so the garcon is apt to come scurrying before he finds the whole stunt is a canard.

3—Feign indifference. Make believe you don't give a darn and watch the waiter hang around. This only works in the very classy joints, however.

4—The subterfuge method. Spill a glass of water and jump back as if you were getting soaked. This never fails to bring a battalion of captains, waiters, busboys and fresh tablecloths.

5—Use bait. Take out your wad of bills and riffle through the stack as if you are trying to recall where you broke that last thousand-dollar bill, not that it matters. There is something about a wad of greenbacks that waiters find very endearing.

6—The polite method. Don't assume that the first garcon who passes by belongs to you. Hail him civilly and say, "Waiter, get me a waiter."

7—The defeatist method. Stick out your foot and trip one.

8—The elaborate method. Go to one place all the time. Get to know one waiter there. Chat with him, ask him about his kiddies, tell him about yours, help him with the play he's writing, give him a recipe for hot beaten biscuit, invite him to your home and give him the kind of service there that you expect from him when you drop into his joint for the blue plate dinner.

And that will be all of that.

Every now and then I get to thinking again about "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," and the more I think about it the more it seems to me that this picture is almost as important a step in the history of the motion picture industry as the first talkie or the first film in technicolor. When they made this one, they forgot the old saw about the 14-year-old i. q. of the average moviegoer—or they threw it out the window. It is just as if the boys got around the conference table and said, "Let us just this once skip the rules and make a picture with intelligence and good taste and imagination and wit, and see what happens."

And what happened was that maybe this picture will go down in history as the first to utilize a third dimension: brilliance.

DIES AT AGE 72

K. H. France, Father of Three Mansfielders, Succumbs.

Friends here learned today of the death yesterday in Beebe, O., of K. H. France, 72, a former resident of Mansfield.

Born in Athens, he lived in Mansfield from 1915 to 1919.

Surviving are three sons, G. H. France of Mansfield, John of Johnsville and Homer of Beebe; and two daughters, Mrs. Samuel Au and Mrs. James Tugh, both of Mansfield.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the Mt. Liberty church in Belira.

Burial will be in the church cemetery.

CONVENES TODAY

Newly-Organized Ohio Defense Council Meets With Bricker.

COLUMBUS—(UP)—The newly-organized Ohio defense council was to hold its initial meeting this afternoon in the office of Governor Bricker, chairman.

All except two of the 15 members have said they would be present Milo J. Warner, Toledo, national commander of the American Legion, and Edward P. Murphy, Cleveland, district head of the Teamsters and Chauffeurs union, accepted their appointment but said previous engagements prevented their attendance at the first meeting.

FDR Grants Newsmen Permission To Visit Iceland Naval Base.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The White House today announced that President Roosevelt had given final clearance to proposals for assigning newsmen and news photographers to Iceland

Stephen T. Early, presidential secretary, said that clearance had been held up by Mr. Roosevelt for some weeks until details could be worked out between the commanders of the British and American forces occupying the Atlantic outpost.

TERRAPIN SOUP BACK

BEAUFORT, N. C.—(U.P.)—Diamond back terrapins, once facing extinction, are bred at the rate of 15,000 annually at the U. S. Marine Laboratory here. Officials of the laboratory say terrapin soup, once a rare delicacy, is returning to favor.

AFL, CIO PLAN DETROIT VOTE

Election Scheduled as 2,250 Trolleys, Buses Resume Runs After Strike.

(By United Press)

DETROIT—Rival American Federation of Labor and Congress and Industrial Organization unions prepared for a collective bargaining election among the 5,500 employes of the Municipal Transit system today while 2,250 trolley cars and buses were put back in service after a five day strike.

The Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway, and Motor Coach employes, (AFL) which called the strike, and the State, County, and Municipal Workers of America (CIO), agreed to an election tomorrow in which the employes will choose between them. The union which wins a majority will be granted a closed shop for all of the system, with a check-off of dues, exclusive use of bulletin boards, and other privileges of the closed shop.

The AFL union had refused to agree to an election through three days of negotiations but Saturday afternoon accepted the proposal provided it was held at once and Mayor Edward Jeffries withdrew his plan to test the legality of the closed shop for civil service workers, after it had been granted.

The settlement was ratified by the AFL membership yesterday afternoon and buses and trolleys soon began appearing on the streets. Full schedules were not restored until today.

The AFL union leaders threatened that if any CIO organizers boarded trolley cars or buses to electioneer today, the vehicles would be abandoned at once by their crews.

LONG ILLNESS ENDS IN DEATH

Mrs. Oscar Kent Succumbs At Nursing Home.

Mrs. Oscar Kent, 28, of 434 Central avenue, died early today at the Hilltop Nursing home following a long illness.

Mrs. Kent was born in Union, N. C., April 26, 1913, coming to Mansfield, where she attended public schools, at the age of nine.

She is survived by her husband, Oscar, four brothers, Howard Lindsay, James, Chester and Cleo; and two sisters, Carrie Lou and Cosie Lindsay, all of Mansfield.

The body was taken to the Geiger funeral home where services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. Rev. A. J. McCreary, of Mt. Calvary Baptist church, will officiate. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

GETS CONTRACT

Mansfield Company to Pave Highway In Ashland.

The Mansfield Asphalt Paving company today had received a contract for paving approximately a half mile of U. S. routes 42 and 250 in Ashland at a cost of $12,225.

Plans for the project call for paving with asphaltic concrete. The estimated cost was $12,425, or $200 more than the amount of the Mansfield firm's bid.

CLAIMS NATIONAL DEFENSE HITS EXPANSION OF HIGHWAY PATROL

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Col. Lynn E. Black, superintendent of the state highway patrol, admitted today that, quality considered, national defense was a detriment to his efforts to increase the patrol by 50 per cent.

"Contrary to reports," Colonel Black said, "applications are in abundance for the 100 new patrol positions made available by the enactment of legislation to increase the staff to 300 men.

"The quantity of applicants is fine, but the quality is below par," he added.

The patrol chief said that "it is more difficult to get the same type of man we have been getting because qualifications are so rigid and examinations and schooling so intense that few men who are not in class 1A in the draft can qualify."

Colonel Black said 1A men have to be "passed up" because of their nearness to actual military service. He pointed out that a newly-named patrolman could not receive deferment from the draft although the men who were patrolmen when the act became effective have received 2-A classification.

"We were able to get deferment for the older patrolmen because we pointed out that their services were essential to the state and because patrol-school training was similar to military training in most respects," Colonel Black said.

Lucrative national defense jobs have lured numerous officers from the force, the colonel said. Resignations during the past 90 days have exceeded those of the past three years, he added.

Colonel Black said seven new locations for state patrol stations had been selected tentatively. He would not reveal their locations because it would "bring on a landslide of petitions and requests" for the establishment of stations at other points.

ILLNESS FATAL

Mrs. H. K. Boughton, 54, Dies at Home Sunday.

Mrs. Asa Bush Boughton, 54, long active in Eastern Star activities here, died yesterday at her home at 135 Boughton avenue after a long illness.

At one time president of the Junior high school Mothers' club, she was a past worthy matron of Ruth chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, and past high priest of the White Shrine of Jeruselum. At the time of her death she was district deputy of the White Shrine of Jerusalem and until recently had also served as scribe of that organization.

Besides her women's Masonic work she has served as chairman of the Women's Republican club of Richland county and was an active member of the First Methodist church.

The daughter of James and Anna Bush, she was born in Holmes county, Sept. 15, 1886, and came to Mansfield to spend her entire life while still a small child.

Surviving are her husband, Henry K.; one daughter, Mrs. Wilford A. Hipp, and two sons, Robert E. and Charles A. Boughton, all of Mansfield.

The body was taken to the Finefrock funeral home where Rev. Edwin G. Corwin and the Past Worthy Matrons association will conduct services Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Bus Crashes Into 3 Autos, Killing Seven; 16 Injured

RIDGEWOOD, N. J.—(INS)—Carl Ramsey, 30-year-old Greyhound bus driver, today was ordered held on a reckless driving charge after his New York-bound bus crashed into three cars, killing seven persons and injuring 16 others, one critically.

Six members of one family were burned to death and a seventh was fatally injured. An eighth member was not expected to live.

The bus, carrying 33 passengers from Albany, also caught fire, but not until the passengers had escaped through an emergency rear door.

Police said the accident occurred when Joseph Bason, 38, Jersey City, N. J., turned out to pass two stalled cars on the highway. The bus rammed the Bason car, and then swung around and struck the two stalled machines.

Bason, hurled from the car, was killed instantly. Pinned under the car were Joseph's wife, Blanche; his daughters, Charlotte, 8; Marion, 6; Barbara, 4; and his sisters, Elizabeth, 25, and Ann, 19.

GLOOMY? THEN BUY FLASHY TIE

PHILADELPHIA —(U.P.)— When you're down in the mouth and all the world looks gloomy, try a necktie—one of those real flashy ties that often come in Christmas packages.

That's the advice of Dr. J. C. Button, jr., of Newark, N. J.

"Command your patient to go out and buy the brightest necktie at the nearest haberdashery and note the sparkle in his eye when he returns.

"Maybe he still has his auricular fibrillation, but you have done something for him. You have changed not merely a tie, but an attitude."

BRITISH, REDS START INVASION OF OIL KINGDOM

Troops Move Simultaneously Across North and South Borders of Iran.

One of these prime objectives is the oil pipe line running from Jasmid-I-Sulaiman to Abadan on the Iraq frontier, near Basra.

It was probable that troops from Iraq would make this their first objective.

It was considered here that the British were faced with a race against time, since it was assumed that German agents, whose presence the British said brought about the invasion, would attempt to blow up or destroy the pipe line and smash oil fields north of Jasmid-I-Sulaiman.

Turkey, Iraq, Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Afghaniston, the countries most immediately concerned in the area, were notified of the British-Russian action and informed of the reasons.

Both the British and the Russian governments had demanded of Iran that she expel some 3,000 German tourists and technicians reported to have filtered into the country and taken key communications posts.

The Iranian reply was declared unsatisfactory at the end of last week and swift action then was predicted to end what both London and Moscow considered a potential threat to their interests.

Report Turkey Will Remain Neutral

ANKARA —(U.P.)— Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu was reported today to have told the British and Russian ambassadors that Turkey would remain neutral in the Iran hostilities.

Saracoglu was said to have told them Turkey would not intervene after they had assured him that Britain and Russia had no permanent political or territorial designs on Iran.

The Turkish press displayed sympathy for Iran in its reports of the joint Anglo-Russian operations.

Germans Denounce Iran Invasion

BERLIN — (U.P.) — Authorized German sources angrily denounced the British-Russian march into Iran today as "an assault on a small nation" and charged Britain with "undisputed guilt in handing over still another country to Bolshevism."

(Radio Berlin, in a broadcast picked up in London by the United Press listening post, said: "British and Soviet troops this morning treacherously attacked Iran. The British and Soviet ministers at Tehran have handed in notes to the Iranian government explaining their reasons for the attack.")

CALL FOR DATA ON COAL PRICES

Bituminous Division Asks Groups For Information on 'Ceiling.'

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— the bituminous coal division called upon selling groups today to furnish information for a hearing Sept. 9 to determine the price to be paid by American soft coal consumers during the coming winter.

The division asked the coal producers boards and regional marketing agencies throughout the country to propose ceiling prices not more than 10 per cent over prevailing levels. Final decision on the prices will be made after the hearing.

The 21 boards and a like number of marketing agencies were told by the division that consumers are paying "excessive and oppressive" prices in many areas, making establishment of maximum prices imperative to rectify "abuses."

BUCK PLAN

Report Pension Advocates to Fight Tax Bill Change.

WASHINGTON —(A.P.)— Rebuffed in their bid for White House support, senate old-age pension advocates were reported ready today to buck the administration leadership in an effort to write a modified version of the Townsend plan into the $3,236,700,000 tax bill.

Authoritative informants said Senator Downey (R., Calif.), a Townsend adherent, would appear before the senate finance committee this week to urge that the federal government provide a minimum of $30 monthly for persons over 60.

It was said reliably that Downey had sought President Roosevelt's backing for the scheme but without any success.

Senator Pepper (D., Fla.), a pension advocate who consistently supports the administration, also told reporters he was hopeful that increased old age benefits would be incorporated in the tax measure.

Ohio Mother Visits Sons She Had Not Seen Since Infancy.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Margaret C. Starmer today was reunited with the twin sons she had not seen since their infancy 28 years ago.

She came here from Mt. Vernon, Ohio, to meet again the boys she gave up for adoption by Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Schroeder and later brought here. Now they are known as Albert and William Schroeder.

Mrs. Starmer drove here with a cousin, Mrs. H. T. Kinnel, and an aunt, Mrs. J. B. Copper, both of Columbus The reunion was prompted by a newspaper story printed in Columbus which related that Mrs. Albert Schroeder sought the twins' mother in order that her baby son, Robert William Schroeder, could know his grandmother.

about its place on Hitler's program of conquest.

It was the first time that the prime minister has dwelt extensively on what he conceived to be the German intentions regarding this country. He recited the results of the Nazi "one by one" strategy—the list of nations overcome singly—and said the turn of the United States would come if Russia and Britain could be disposed of.

In some diplomatic quarters, this part of his speech was looked on as an oblique appeal for active American participation on Britain's side. It was pointed out that he cited the fate of the many countries that failed to take united and positive action against the German danger until it was too late.

Speech Warns Japan, Pledges Aid to U. S.

LONDON—(A.P.)—Prime Minister Churchill warned Japan yesterday her menacing movements must stop and pledged Great Britain to range herself beside the United States should the latter's efforts to secure a peaceful settlement in the Pacific fail.

On the other side of the world, he called the "Atlantic charter" drawn by him and President Roosevelt a British-United States pledge to destroy Nazi tyranny.

In a broadcast to the world he described his meeting with the American executive as a "marshalling of the good forces of the world against the evil forces" and a beacon of hope for all the conquered nations of Europe.

In the German attack on Soviet Russia, he said Nazi blood for the first time "has flowed in a fearful flood." He promised aid to Russia and praised her efficiency and equipment.

If Germany were to defeat Russia and then Britain in a policy of destroying her opponents one by one, Churchill expressed the opinion the United States would be attacked next.

"I rejoice to find that President Roosevelt saw in their true light and proportion the extreme dangers by which the American people as well as the British people are now beset," he said.

The Japanese, he said, "now stretch a grasping hand into the southern seas of China. They snatch Indo-China from the wretched Vichy French. They menace by their movements Siam. They menace the Singapore British link with Australia and menace the Philippine islands which are under the protection of the United States.

"It is certain that this has got to stop. Every effort will be made to secure a peaceful settlement. The United States are laboring with infinite patience to arrive at a fair and amicable settlement which will give Japan the utmost reassurance for her legitimate interests. We earnestly hope these negotiations will succeed. But this I must say, that if these hopes should fail we shall, of course, range ourselves unhesitatingly at the side of the United States."

Churchill said the meeting with President Roosevelt represented the forces of "two major groupings of the human family who happen to speak the same language."

Arraigned before Mayor T. M. Henderson of Savannah, John Doyle, 53, Hudson Falls, N. Y., was fined $2 for failing to observe a "stop" sign at the junction of Routes 250 and 244.

Taken into custody for driving without lights, David F. Tackett, 20, Willard, was ordered to appear tonight before Mayor W. R. Morris of Shelby.

Robert A. Stutz, 25, Ashland, was ordered to appear before Justice of Peace R. R. Teeters of Ashland, Tuesday afternoon on a charge of reckless driving on U. S. Route 42 near Ashland.

Arrested by Mansfield police Saturday night after his car collided with another and knocked down a "stop" sign at Springmill and Cedar streets, Nick Eichinger, Bell street, was held on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. His case was continued today in municipal court.

Two Akron drivers, Ed. Shoman, 21, and Clyde Harmon, 29, were arrested Saturday night by state highway patrolmen for speeding on U. S. Route 42 northeast of the city. Both drivers were ordered to appear Wednesday in municipal court.

CALL ELECTION

Great Lakes Shipyards Workmen Vote On Bargaining Rights.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—A F L and CIO union leaders today girded for a national labor relations board election scheduled Aug. 29 which will determine collective bargaining rights at seven Great Lakes shipyards of the American Shipbuilding company.

A strike of 2400 workers was averted Saturday when CIO and AFL leaders and company officials, meeting with NLRB representatives, agreed to the election. The company had petitioned for the consent election after several AFL locals threatened to call a strike to offset CIO claims of majority support.

Street Intersection Bridge Speeds Traffic

Something new in ways of speeding up traffic at main street intersections is tried in Atlanta, Ga., as pictured. The experimental steel bridge is erected at the intersection of Peachtree and Wesley streets. The bridge was built in three sections at a cost of $10,000. If successful, 10 other bridges of the same type will be set up at other intersections.

New home expenditures in 1940 were $1,002,250, or 228.9 per cent higher than the 1930 total of $437,850. Valuations of new Mansfield homes from 1930 through 1940, aggregated $6,223,220. While 1940 was the new peak, the low, $90,000 was hit in 1933.

In addition to the increase in the number of homes and their valuation, the amount of money spent per person for new housing also advanced.

New residential cost in Mansfield per person last year was $1,180.40, a gain of $76.83, above the 1939 level of $1,103.57. It was also $51.93 higher than the 1930 average of $1,128.47.

Mansfield's 1940 per person new home cost ranked fourth in Ohio while its ten year average held third place.

★ ★ ★ a luxury we can no longer afford!

YOU'VE SEEN THEM—those tangled piles of rusting "Auto Graveyards" . . . a terrific waste of valuable machinery that could have been saved.

Today we can no longer afford this waste. With the National Defense Program demanding more and more of our productive facilities, we must conserve and protect the cars we now have . . . make them last longer.

Recent estimates show that 7 out of 10 cars on the road today are wearing themselves out prematurely through lack of proper lubrication. This includes not only "jaloppies," but newer cars owned by people who fail to realize the importance of lubrication to moving parts. Let's stop this extravagance!

Oil is more plentiful and far cheaper than steel. Keep your car properly lubricated. Help the nation. Save yourself money.

smashed back in the Gomel sector of the central front in a terrific Sunday-dawn assault by Russian tanks and infantry supported by Red air fleet bombers.

The Rumanian losses were reported in the last-ditch battle for Russia's Black sea port of Odessa while farther east in the Ukraine Red army cavalry units were hurled into the fight for vital bridge-heads in the Dnieper river bend.

The Soviet bureau of information reported today that heavy fighting continued throughout last night in the Kakisami and Novgorod approaches to Leningrad and near Dnieperopetrovsk, Red army foothold on the west bank of the Dnieper river.

A Moscow communique indicated that the assault on Leningrad from the north had been renewed yesterday in a drive toward Kakisalmi in the northeastern sector of the heavily-fortified Karelian isthmus.

(The Fins reported yesterday they had captured Sakkijarvi, Nuijamaa and Rattijarvi, driving within 18 miles of Viipuri in the northwestern sector of the Karalien isthmus but made no mention of a thrust closer to Kakisalmi.)

Russian military dispatches pictured the German push toward Leningrad from the west and south as checked by a Red army defense so strengthened that the Russian forces were counterattacking successfully.

The Red army lines apparently still were holding just east of Kingisepp, less than 75 miles from Leningrad, and near Novgorod, 100 miles southeast of the heavily-fortified port.

Red Star, organ of the Red army, credited Soviet General Konev's forces in the Gomel area between Smolensk and Kiev with hurling back the Germans there in a plane-supported assault which was said to have left more than 100 German armored vehicles and cars wrecked and flaming like torches in the half-light and predawn.

Nazis Silent on Details of Battle

BERLIN—(A.P.)—The big German war machine was described in official reports as rolling forward on all active fronts today, but the high command ventured only a brief general statement concerning the fighting.

"Operations in the east are making good progress everywhere," said the communique from Adolf Hitler's headquarters.

Complete official silence covered the extensive battles about the Nazi-encircled centers of Soviet resistance at Odessa in the south and Tallinn in the north, where it has been admitted that death stands are being made by regulars and civilians, and the fortified areas of Leningrad and Kiev, where the German forces seek to force similar bands of steel.

Likewise, there was a dearth of official word concerning the drive of the Germans between Kiev and Gomel in what has been described as another massive encirclement battle to entrap defenders to the southwest of Moscow.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, AUGUST 25, 1941.

People are being asked to think—but isn't that too much to expect in August?

Hitler's "place in history" is already being discussed—but thus far there is no agreement on the island.

A dietitian expresses belief that in 15 generations a man could be evolved who would be 40 feet tall—but he fails to enumerate any advantages.

Restrictions On Credit Buying

SUCH restrictions on installment purchases as are to be made effective September 1 must be regarded as a part of the national emergency program, intended to conserve defense materials—else they would appear to be an unjustifiable encroachment on individual rights.

Requirement of a one-third minimum down payment on automobiles, airplanes and motorcycles, for instance, with a limit of 18 months in which to pay the balance, seems obviously intended to reduce consumer demand to a point that can be accommodated by lowered production schedules.

Difference in the required percentage of down payment on various commodities seems to attempt to arbitrarily draw a line between "luxuries" and "necessities," but this would be too much a matter of opinion to make agreement possible, as, for instance, requiring 20 per cent down payment on a household mechanical refrigerator and only 10 per cent on an ice box.

Responsibility for observance of these new regulations appear to rest almost entirely on merchants and sales agencies, with suspension of license as the penalty for noncompliance.

Installment buying, when conducted in a sound way, has contributed so greatly to the spread of comforts and conveniences throughout America that the restrictions about to be imposed can scarcely fail to affect millions of people and to seriously retard distribution of a large number of industrial products ordinarily purchased on credit.

There is also the probability, however, that the habit of thrift will be encouraged by recognition of the need of accumulating money for a substantial down payment on any contemplated purchase.

Making Ready for New School Year

THE YEAR really begins for children in September. Then's the time they go into the new school room and attack the work of a higher grade. They should be made ready in every way that the parents can think of.

They need have their eyes and ears and teeth checked up. Why be miserable and getting low grades if glasses, ear treatments or dentistry can prevent the discomforts? The regular physician usually called by the family is a good man to do the looking over. He can advise the specialists if they are needed, or simply put his seal of approval on the bright-eyed, brown-skinned, cheerful child who can hear well, read the charts easily and pass simple tests of weight, height and strength.

New clothes aren't a sinful luxury. Simple, proper ones, bright and pleasant, are a real source of strength to the child facing a new class.

A few well-chosen words on doing the job well won't come amiss, if they are delivered by a parent who believes in the child's inherent goodness and desire to do well.

Give the children a good start-off. Well begun is half done.

Gains for the Free French

GOOD NEWS comes through that the Free French have enrolled in their forces more than two and a half times as many men as they had a year ago. Good to hear that they control almost a fourth of the entire French fleet. Better still to learn that the ships in their hands are not hiding in harbors but working for their living on the Atlantic. Their cargoes add to the needed food and arms of themselves and their comrades in the British Isles.

This has been a year of steady and solid development and growth for the movement which alone represents the real France.

Self-Help as Thrift Measure

SLICING your own bread, a process which most of the world now seems to be getting used to again, may in turn bring an era of rolling your own smokes. It is said not to be really hard when you once get, or regain, the knack of it.

And whatever saving of tobacco ensues, if any, may be credited to the current demand—here and there—for wartime thrift.

Word comes that a $24,000,000 training camp is to be constructed along Georgia's "Tobacco Road"—and it would be just like the boys to adopt the slogan, "Watch Our Smoke."

For Greater Traffic Safety

RULES COMPILED BY THE A. A. A. TO HELP PARENTS, CHILDREN

IN URBAN CENTERS

1. Select the safest, most protected route to school, the store, or playground. Go over it with the child—see that he follows it.
2. Teach children how to cross unprotected streets by looking in all directions before crossing.
3. Teach children that the curb line is the danger line, and train them to stay on the sidewalk until the way is clear.
4. A parent's own traffic practices are much more important than words. Set a good example yourself.
5. Urge children to co-operate with their school safety patrol.
6. Teach children to play in safe places away from traffic.
7. Commend children when they obey signals and look before crossing.
8. Stress the importance of walking briskly, not running across streets.
9. Make it your practice when with the children always to cross at the corner.
10. Show concrete evidence of your interest in traffic safety by participating in local community safety programs.

IN RURAL AREAS

1. Teach children to walk on left side of highway. Explain that they can see approaching traffic.
2. Stress the necessity of wearing or carrying something white at night.
3. Urge children to be cautious in crossing the highway when leaving or entering a school bus.
4. Point out and explain continually why it is dangerous to play along roadways.
5. Interest school authorities in using safety posters, lessons, and other safety teaching aids in schoolrooms.

WHEN BICYCLING

1. Point out that bicycle drivers must obey traffic rules as motorists do.
2. Explain the danger of zigzagging in traffic or doing circus stunts on streets or highways.
3. Urge children to dismount and walk across congested intersections or heavily traveled roads.
4. Inspect the bicycle yourself regularly to see that safety equipment is in proper working order.

THE DUAL CONTROL SPEED MODEL

Expect 'Shooting War' With Japs

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—If this country were ruled like Germany or Russia, we could stop Japan dead in her tracks and prevent her from making another hostile move, either toward Thailand, the Philippines, Singapore or the Dutch East Indies—all without firing a shot or losing a drop of blood.

That is the firm belief of high naval officers, some of whom admit slyly that perhaps it is just as well we do not have this power to PREVENT war and bloodshed by words the possible enemy will KNOW will be backed up by actions. They admit it may be just as well because most of them are convinced, and have been convinced for many years, that we will have to fight Japan sooner or later, and therefore perhaps the sooner the better.

It would be deception to say that all our naval officers hope that war in the Far East, so far as we are concerned, will be averted. Many of them hope sincerely that war between the United States and Japan will come before they are on the retired list. They want to be in it.

Their attitude is a little like that of the Tommy in the last war, to whom a fellow sufferer in a trench remarked: "Isn't this a terrible war?"

"Yes," said the first Tommy. Then, after a moment's thought, he added: "But it's better than no war at all."

This story is a little unfair to the naval officers with whom the writer has discussed the Far Eastern situation. They realize the horrors of war. But they are convinced that it MUST come sooner or later and if that is accepted as inevitable, they would like to have a part in it.

But the really interesting point here is that nearly all of them believe that Japan would not risk a war with the United States by taking any particular step in her present aggression if she were SURE the particular step in question would provoke war.

But, since our government is run as they know it is, they are not quite sure. No matter what Secretary of State Cordell Hull, or Under-Secretary Sumner Welles, or even President Roosevelt may say, publicly or privately, there is always a chance that the American people's inherent hatred of war, plus the isolationist group's constant propaganda, may succeed.

Thus there is a sound basis for a theory on the part of the Japanese high command that maybe they can get away with this, or that, and hence the temptation to take the chance.

Naturally, the Japanese, having no moral scruples about conquest, want to make the most of the present opportunity presented by the European war. So there is a strong probability, as Washington sees the picture, that Japan will take the chance—will make the moves, one after the other, which finally will bring Uncle Sam into a shooting war in the Far East.

It is easy to imagine the "incident." An American destroyer escorting a couple of ships loaded with supplies to a Siberian port, torpedoed or sunk by a Japanese cruiser or battleship, or bombed, as two of our gunboats already have been, by Japanese airplanes. The country would be aflame overnight, and no amount of Wheeler, or Lindbergh speeches would quiet the flame.

In which case, naval officers say grimly, it could be said with considerable accuracy that our isolationist leaders were the real cause of the war—because their activities had deceived the Japanese into thinking they could get away with it!

"But," some of them add, "maybe it's a good thing!"

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, Aug. 25, 1921.

Violent rioting was in progress in the Malabar district of British India.

Mansfield stockholders in the Mason Tire company of Kent, were shown motion pictures of methods of tire production.

Residents of Jeromesville held community picnic at Casino park.

Rev. E. M. Hursh retired from Missionary work in Africa and was visiting his parents here.

Mansfield Kiwanians and their families enjoyed outing at Ruggles Beach.

Miss Mathilde Hautzenroeder entertained for Miss Dorothy Ream, soon to move to Pittsburgh.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Aug. 25, 1936.

Building permits issued in the preceding two days totaled $66,160.

Capt. T. M. Bell of the Mansfield police force was elected president of the Mansfield chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police.

Mrs. Mary Basting, 50, died at her home on Lily street.

Rev. LeRoy Deininger and Clarence F. Wolf were in Lancaster attending annual Ohio conference of Evangelical church.

The Misses Ethel Wirts, Effie Snyder, Nellie Kern, Lois Snyder and Lillian Herr returned from a motor trip to the New England states.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this date in 1921, the United States signed a Treaty of Peace with Germany. Technically, the nations were at war until this time. The treaty was based on the armistice terms and the claims of the United States under the Treaty of Versailles.

Rediscovery of the Human Voice

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE present decade may well be remembered as the period of the rediscovery of the human voice, and professions, such as radio, and the talking pictures are dependent upon convincing and cultivated voice production. Hundreds of thousands of people where there used to be one or two, are ambitious to succeed in some line of industry which requires this form of cultivation.

The voice is produced by the vocal cords, when air is forced over them, and they are drawn sufficiently together to leave a fine opening called the glottis. The length of the glottis in the adult male averages 1.8 c. m., and in the female, 1.2 c.m.

Speech is composed of fundamentals called vowels and consonants. As speech proceeds, there is a constant shifting of these sounds which depend for their modification upon the shape of the resounding cavities. When the sounds are continuous, they are called continuants, and when the sound stream is interrupted, they are called stops.

Physical Properties.

There are four physical properties of speech which make it characteristic: pitch, intensity, timing and timbre.

Pitch is the compass of the voice. It goes through and points the way.

Intensity depends on the pressure of the air below the glottis made by the air coming up from the chest. A simile would be made with a boxer when he finds a place to land on his opponent—that is pitch. The amount of energy behind the blow is intensity.

Timing is of the utmost importance in the effectiveness of any kind of speech. The emotion behind the speech is shown in the timing. Rapidity is for conveying excitement, and for abrupt command; deliberation is emphasis in argument. President Roosevelt, as an orator, has it all: pitch, intensity, timbre and timing, but the great effectiveness of his oratory certainly lies in his timing.

Timbre depends very largely on the size of the glottis and on the amount of air space in the sinuses around the nose and the upper jaw. These cavities in the upper jaw form a sort of sounding board which give the characteristic elements and personality to the voice. By their timbre, you recognize various individuals over the telephone.

All these elements can be cultivated best by practice and imitation rather than formal instruction. A great deal of formal instruction given by voice and singing teachers is bad. The breath control which singing teachers insist on, which consists in throwing the breath stream against the palate or facial bones to produce a particular sound, is entirely unscientific, since the air is governed by the laryngeal muscles and passed to the resonating cavities. The result of this teaching is usually a throaty effect.

Controlled by Mind.

In voice production the mind still controls the mechanism. The singer when sounding a note of certain pitch, must have a mental image of that note. The good singer knows how to bring about first a mental adjustment, and then a physical adjustment to produce the tone desired. Singing teachers are coming to ask advice from specialists in throat medicine, and with the pressure of the modern age, the medical profession is reawakening to an interest in this subject which has become so close to our daily lives.

Biddle Slated for Attorney General, New Cabinet Post May Be Created

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Two months have passed since Robert H. Jackson was elevated to the supreme court, and Roosevelt's long delay in appointing his successor has started all sorts of rumors about who would be the next attorney general.

One story put tall, handsome Federal Security Administrator Paul McNutt in the lead. Another said Roosevelt was seriously considering Blair Bell, prominent Chicago attorney. A third gave the justice department to Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, hard-hitting trust buster.

But you can now write it down that the next attorney general will be the man who has been acting attorney general during the two months of delay, Solicitor General Francis Biddle.

Also you can write it down that Biddle's successor as solicitor general will be Charles Fahy, who is now assistant solicitor general. Both appointments will be announced shortly.

Francis Biddle, of the famous Philadelphia Biddles, was born in France, educated at a Quaker college, and first struck the New Deal limelight as chairman of the National Labor Relations Board. Elevated to one of the most important judgeships in the country, the third circuit court of appeals, he resigned to become solicitor general, just as Robert P. Patterson resigned from the second circuit court to become under secretary of war.

Fahy got to know Biddle when both were on the National Labor Relations Board, Fahy as counsel. Georgia born, Fahy jumped from a Santa Fe, New Mexico, law practice to Mr. Ickes' Interior Department, has been lawing for verious New Deal agencies ever since.

Winchell, U. S. N. R.

WALTER WINCHELL, lieutenant-commander, U. S. Naval Reserve, in spotless white uniform, buttons polished, slightly nervous, reported for duty the other day. Saluting briskly, he announced to Executive Officer Lieutenant Wilson Starbuck that the famous Broadway column had been put on the shelf for a month, and he was ready for sea duty.

Lieutenant Starbuck, kindly, courteous, wanted to put the naval rookie at ease. After several friendly questions, he asked: "Do you still write dramatic criticism, Mr. Winchell?"

"Yes — for The New York Mirror."

"Do you remember the show at the Maxine Elliott Theater last year called 'Sea Dogs'?" asked Lieutenant Starbuck.

"Yes," replied Winchell. "And I remember what I wrote about it. I said, 'It's rotten'."

"I was the author," replied Winchell's executive officer. "As a matter of fact," he grinned, "that is what all the other critics said."

Later Winchell was asked to fill out a blank regarding his various duties. But he was a little hasty, and Lieutenant Starbuck handed the paper back. "Here, you forgot to fill in your 'peacetime occupation'."

Winchell filled out the form and handed it back. It read: "Peacetime Occupation: Dramatic critic."

Capital Chaff.

A COLUMBIA, GA., textile manufacturer, trying to enlarge his plant, was able to secure the lumber, bricks, everything but the nails. He spent days in Washington trying to get the nails. There are all sorts of big things in the country being held up by little things in Washington. . . . White House physician, Dr. Ross McIntire has forbidden presidential secretary, Marvin McIntyre, to remain around the White House much of the time while the air-cooling is on. . . . A lot of Washington bigwigs find air-cooling unhealthy. They should take a leaf from the book of erudite Judge Richard J. Hopkins of Kansas, who on hot days takes attorneys and witnesses out of a fetid court-room to the healthy, open spaces of his back lawn. . . . Latin American delegates to the Inter-American Coffee Board complain that the U. S. delegate, Paul Daniels, has mistaken the Good Neighbor policy for the old Teddy Roosevelt Big Stick.

Department of Supply.

INNER Administrationites, increasingly disturbed by the chaotic situation in defense, have quietly renewed pressure for the long overdue shake-up.

They have had a plan ready for months. Roosevelt has gone over it, discussed it, but has always laid it aside. Now with defense production continuing to drag and with armament clamor from army commanders and British increasing, White House lieutenants are hopeful that the president will move.

The plan calls for a new department called the "Department of Supply."

Headed by an executive of cabinet rank, this new department would take under its wing OPM, OPACS, Priorities, the Defense Coordinator of Transportation, and all army and navy purchasing functions. The Defense Mediation Board would remain an independent agency but continue to work in close collaboration with OPM as at present. The Defense Housing Coordinator also would remain independent.

Roosevelt has had such a department in mind as far back as 1933, when by executive order he set up the Procurement Division within the treasury. This was to be the first step in the gradual creation of a department to handle all government purchasing, including the army and navy. But the late War and Navy Secretaries Dern and Swanson objected.

* * *

Secretary of Supply.

NO. 1 INNER CIRCLE choice for the proposed new cabinet post is Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Young, tough-minded and liberal, he displayed unusual executive ability during his two years as head of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Also, he is close to Roosevelt and has had no connection with the squabbles and disturbances that have racked the defense organization.

Personally, Douglas is content where he is. But last June, before departing on his vacation, he indicated he was ready to give up his life-time job on the Supreme Court if the president summoned him.

They were lunching together and as Douglas rose to leave, Roosevelt said: "Have a nice time, Bill. And hold yourself in readiness for a possible change when you get back. I may have to call on you to step into the defense picture."

"I'll be ready whenever you say the word, Mr. President," Douglas replied.

Note — Non-New Dealers are pushing able Under Secretary of War Patterson to be head of the new Department of Supply.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Answering the mail:

K. W., South Bend, Ind.—There were approximately 20,000,000 pounds of scrap aluminum collected in the nationwide drive. It was NOT given to the aluminum companies. It was sold to them at the maximum market price, according to OPM officials. The receipts from this sale went into "miscellaneous receipts" of the United States treasury. Consequently these contributions were a gift to the United States defense program.

P.D.M., Cleveland, O.—The first step in obtaining a defense job, I would say, would be to register with your state employment service. Following that, you undoubtedly will be interviewed and perhaps given tests. From there, you might be shunted directly into a defense job or told where to go for additional training in your field.

T. L., Amarillo, Tex.—There's no mystery, army air officers say, about why some bombers fly low while others try to fly out of sight and sound. It all depends on what defenses the enemy has. If the attack depends on surprise and an effort to forestall enemy fighters from getting into the air (plus clear weather), then high-flying bombers may get in and out before they can be seen, heard or attacked. On the other hand, if conditions are overcast, bombers flying just over the telephone wires have the advantage of being able to see their objectives at close range; anti-aircraft can't spot them soon enough to take aim; enemy fighters won't dive for fear they will be carried right into the ground before they can pull out of it; and they can't attack from below because there's no flying space there.

N. R. K., Fort Smith, Ark.—The loops of braided cord which appeared around the right shoulders of Capt. Elliott Roosevelt and Ensign Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., in their recent picture at the meeting of President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill meant that they were aides on the staff. Regimental citations for bravery appear only in loops from the left shoulder.

L. W. S., Canton, O.—The reference to Monday-to-Thursday adjournments in congress is only a way of taking a little vacation (without actual adjournment) during slack or rest periods. In both houses, the majority and minority leaders make a gentlemen's agreement that no important business will be transacted. Then, on Monday and Thursday of each week, the houses meet, run through a few formalities and adjourn again.

S. H., Eufaula, Okla.—The opinion here is that you need not expect automboiles with plastic bodies for a good many years yet. The history of any new product, supplanting an established one, is that the changeover takes several years. Even if every auto manufacturer had produced a plastic body at the same time, they still would have to go through the slow periods of testing and retooling and testing again, before they could go all out for the new material.

P. B., Butte, Mont.—Officers and non-coms from England, Canada, and 16 Latin-American countries are now or soon will be training with United States forces. With the exception of the Canadians, all of these are men training in the air corps. The Canadian officers and non-com trainees not in aviation are in the tank corps.

A Farmer's Diary

At a Roadside Stand

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

NORTH along Lake Erie, up Conneaut way, two roads, 5 and 20, run almost parallel. Number 5 goes very close to the lake in many places, so I went that way, to enjoy the breeze and get an occasional glimpse of the deep blue ridge of water through openings in the wooded shore line. At times, white winged gulls swept gracefully above the tree tops.

Here, along this highway, is land adapted to fruit and vegetables, since the lake's nearness keeps frost away in late spring and early fall. Large apple orchards and groves of ripening peaches grow on both sides the level concrete road. The sweet cherry crop is gone, but occasional sour cherry trees still stood unpicked. Labor was scarce, an old man told me, and people didn't come to pick fruit for themselves as other years. "Most young men and even the middle aged," he added, "have got jobs in town. It pays better and you don't have to wait a year for your money."

North and south of Dunkirk, N. Y., nearly every house had its roadside stand. Some are old and weatherbeaten, but many are newly painted and modernly streamlined. These stands have been here so long and served a discerning public so well, that they have become a natural part of the scene. Like ancient crossroads and the old roadside tavern, they are institutions of the land.

Here I saw cars with licenses from Canada, Idaho, California, Texas, Iowa, Colorado and my native Pennsylvania. The owners conversed eagerly with each other and with the farmer who busily sold them fruit and vegetables. With every purchase, this farmer threw in good will, courtesy, and rare bits of information about his own section of the country. He treated all these travelers as his friends—and so they were.

I remarked as much to another man who stopped near me.

"You're right," he said. "These farmers don't get their names into the headlines; they don't want publicity more'n what makes their business go—but they're a good part of what keeps this country strong and stable. They make the country richer than the land on which they raise their crops."

Timely Editorial

Arrogant Action.

The Detroit street car and bus operators' strike is a good example of the "public be damned" policy which has been fostered by radical labor leaders and aided and abetted by high-ranking officials in Washington.

It is a grave matter at any time when the transportation facilities of a city of 1,618,549 population are paralyzed by a willful minority. The action is even more serious now in that it interferes with factory operation and production at a time when it is essential that there be no slowing down.—Ohio State Journal.

FORMAL SERVICE HELD FOR FOX-PFAHLER VOWS

Open Church Observed For Pretty Wedding of Miss Elaine Fox and John Lloyd Pfahler on Sunday Afternoon at 2:30 O'clock.

LOVELY in a wedding gown of white taffeta, Miss Margaret Elaine Fox walked down the candlelit aisle of the First Methodist church Sunday afternoon to become the bride of John Lloyd Pfahler, jr. The single ring service was solemnized at 2:30 o'clock before an altar beautifully decorated with a profusion of greenery and two large baskets of gladioli. Two seven-branch candelabra illuminated the scene. Rev. E. G. Corwin officiated.

Preceding the service nuptial music was played by Mrs. Elsie Ireland, organist, whose selections were "Evening Star," "Intermezzo," "Ave Maria," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "At Dawning" and the traditional wedding marches. The soft strains of "I Love You Truly" were heard throughout the ceremony. Miss Mary Jane Bellore, soloist, sang "At Dawning" and "Ave Maria."

Miss Fox was given in marriage by her father, Charles Alfred Fox. She wore the formal wedding gown made with fitted bodice, full skirt and the waist was finished with a square neckline and short puffed sleeves. She carried a shower bouquet of white gladioli, tied with white satin streamers. Her shoulder length illusion veil was held in place with a coronet of seed pearls.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Virginia Faye Fox, of this city. She was attired in a gown of romance blue taffeta, made with a low waistline. Purple velvet ribbon drawn through the taffeta at the waistline ended with long streamers. Her shower bouquet was of pink gladioli tips.

Escorting the guests to their seats were the ushers, Robert Hall of Lexington, Albert Weiland and Robert Hostettler of Mansfield and Carole Osborn of Leonardsburg.

Mrs. Fox appeared at her daughter's wedding in a defense blue velvet frock with navy accessories. She wore a corsage of Briarcliffe roses. Mrs. Pfahler wore a navy and white ensemble with white accessories and her corsage was also of Briarcliffe roses.

Following the service which was attended by many relatives and friends a reception was held for 60 guests at the Fox home, 336 West Fifth street. A tiered wedding cake centered the serving table and gladioli decorated the home.

Later in the day the couple left for a trip through the north. For traveling Mrs. Pfahler wore a rose wool frock with black accessories. Upon their return they will reside in Kilbourne, O. where Mr. Pfahler is a student minister at the Methodist church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fox, 336 West Fifth street, was graduated from the Mansfield Senior high school, and has been employed at the H. L. Reed company. Mr. Pfahler, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Pfahler, sr., 49 Greenwood avenue, is a student at Ohio Wesleyan university and a student minister at the Methodist churches at Kilbourne and Leonardsburg, O.

Out-of-town guests in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crall and son, Eugene, Mr. and Mrs George Crall of Shelby, Mrs. C. W. O'Brien, Miss Georgia O'Brien, Misses Gladys and Odessa O'Brien, all of Bucyrus, Miss Grace Honse of Beaver, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwab of Sulphur Springs, and daughters, Mildred and Geraldine, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berry of Toledo, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall of Lexington and John Pfahler of Sulphur Springs.

Miss Naomi Stutz And Her Fiance Choose Attendants

Miss Naomi Stutz, whose marriage is to be an event of Wednesday, and her fiance, W. S. Edwards, have chosen Miss Lella Graeff of this city and Harry Appl of Columbus as their attendants. Miss Stutz was the honored guest at a bridge party given Saturday evening by Mrs. Harold Stewart and Mrs. Dan Haber at the Haber home on Cline avenue.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Earl Brandenberg and the honoree. The hostesses presented her with an electrical gift. Guests in attendance were Miss Graeff, Mrs. Harold Willsey, Mrs Richard Widders, Mrs. Harold Garrison, Mrs W. W. Blauser, Miss Dorothy Moser, Miss Bess Wickert, Miss Emmogene Nisonger and Mrs. Brandenberg.

Green, a Popular Color for All Types of Clothes

By ORRY-KELLY

Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — How green is your wardrobe?

If it doesn't include a soft green and a riotous green it lacks what the film colony considers a lively tour de force.

Even "mixed greens" are having their hey day along with one-color costumes, accessories, or something so simple but so important, a green hat. It was the smart blending of three yellow-greens that caught Ann Sheridan's eyes, which, by the way are also slightly green, when she set out to buy a new slack suit suitable for almost any occasion. The trousers of wool gabardine are in a rich bronze green, the shirt in apple green, and a knee-length, sleeveless coat is in chartreuse. Ann likes the outfit for a second reason. It is giving her a good looking summer coat which she is wearing with beige or white. Her dress has long, full sleeves with snug cuffs. The white one with short, set-in sleeves reveals an expanse of arm that Ann flatters with long, white gloves and when she chooses it for dinner wear a costume clip is snapped on the top of one glove with its mate on the rever of her coat.

Several months ago we predicted that a blaze of color would invade the boudoir, that South American shades and those of Chinese hue would be a lovely lady's choice over meek petal pink or timid heaven blue. Our prediction has already been fulfilled, but for fall wear this trend will be an established fashion. In the winter months these full colors look warmer. They're also, I'm informed, very spirit-lifting. Green heads the list.

I could elaborate on leaf green chiffon pajamas, spinach green crepe negligees, green and white striped and checked taffeta breakfast coats, green satin nightgowns, and so on ad infinitum but I want to concentrate on a new pajama designed by Warner's Howard Shoup. Howard put a nightgown top with a pajama bottom and the combination is one that should interest college-bound damsels as it has Joan Leslie who will wear it. The top, in soft folds and a v-shaped neckline, is in green satin flowered in two lovely shades. It's a three-piece outfit with tunic length coat and bolero of the same quilted satin.

Kelly green accessories have many devotees. Fiery Lupe Velez is one who likes a large doeskin bag of it and Kelly green doeskin pumps when she wears her vanilla beige shantung suit. Her hat and gloves, though, are a vanilla match because Kelly is one of those heady greens that must be used in small doses to be effective. Lupe is also wearing one of the new string mesh blouses with her suit. This one has a jabot collar.

Married Saturday

Pictured above is Mrs. Ernest Matthew, of Cleveland, the former Jessie Culp of Mansfield. She changed her name last Saturday afternoon in a formal wedding solemnized at the Church of the Covenant in Cleveland. The bride is the daughter of Atty. and Mrs. Frank Culp, Marion avenue.

Miss Jean Eckert Honored At Party

Miss Jean Eckert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Eckert, Lexington, was honored with a surprise birthday and farewell party by a group of her friends at her home Saturday evening. The diversion of the evening was a treasure hunt. Luncheon was served buffet style at the close of the evening at small tables placed on the lawn.

Miss Eckert will leave the first of September for Cincinnati where she is enrolled in a four-year course in nursing at the University of Cincinnati hospital.

This Will Be A Season Of Many Flattering Styles

NEW YORK—Wear a curtain on your hat, and a bustle on your hips. Tie your apron front or back but, hang it all, it's smart! That's the fashion word-picture in this week's showings. Everything hangs, drapes, droops or folds. Not a severe line in a single dress, which is good news, for it foretells a season of flattering clothes.

The millinery industry has just completed its fall styling of hats, and from first sight of what's going on, it's difficult to tell where the hat ends and the dress begins. What you can't miss, however, is the prevalence of draped aprons; wimples, curtains, snoods on hats; harem hems on dresses, and great snoods that scoop up all the long hair in back.

All this extra fillip on your dress means that fabric contrast is of prime importance. Dull and shiny fabrics are combined; wool is used with lace; Celanese is used with velvet; satin is combined with crepe. Outstanding examples of the contrasting use of fabric were shown this week by some of our leading dressmakers and designers. Some of the highlights follow:

The use of snoods on the backs of hats started several seasons ago. This Fall will bring many more of them. Small, boxey hats will have curtain-snoods of velvet, and this kind of hat will be worn with the wool or satin dress trimmed with velvet. Dresses of the afternoon type in both brown and black offer many variations of the velvet theme. Whether the frock is made of taffeta, wool, Celanese rayon crepe or satin, there is a generous use of velvet trimming in hem borders, peplum borders, yoke appliques. Often the entire sleeve may be of velvet extending into the yoke.

FORMER MANSFIELDER WEDS IN CLEVELAND

Miss Jessie Culp, Daughter of Atty. and Mrs. Frank Culp, Becomes Bride of Ernest R. Matthew of Cleveland Saturday Afternoon.

OF INTEREST in Mansfield is the wedding solemnized Saturday afternoon uniting in marriage Miss Jessie Culp, of Cleveland, former Mansfielder, and the daughter of Atty. and Mrs. Frank S. Culp, 386 Marion avenue, and Ernest R. Matthew of Cleveland. The formal nuptials were solemnized at 4 o'clock at the Church of the Covenant, Euclid avenue, Cleveland.

Marriage vows were repeated in the Christ chapel with Rev. James McClintock officiating. A program of nuptial music was presented by Charles Allan Rebstock, master of music, of the church.

Palms, ferns and seven-branch candelabra decorated the chancel for the service. The only illumination was the soft glow furnished by lighted tapers. White satin ribbon banded the pews and formed the pad for the young couple to kneel on at the altar.

The bride wore an attractive wedding gown of white net and lace over taffeta. Her fingertip length veil of bridal illusion was capped with the traditional orange blossoms. She carried a front style bouquet of Bride's roses and white pompons, centered with an orchid. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Grace Culp attended her sister, wearing a pale blue chiffon and lace frock and her bouquet was composed of Johanna Hill roses and blue delphinium, tied with a large yellow satin bow. Her hair was arranged in a chignon gathered into a bow of blue satin ribbon, the shade of the frock, and the streamers from the bow fell nearly to the hemline.

Best man for Mr. Matthew was his brother, Paul Matthew, of Ottumwa, Iowa.

Mrs. Culp, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue lace frock for her daughter's wedding. Her accessories were in white and she wore a corsage of white roses and white pompoms. Mrs. Mathew's frock was an orchid and white print and her accessories and corsage were similar to that of Mrs. Culp's.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party held an informal reception upon the lawn of the church. Later a wedding dinner was served at Crosby's. In the late afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Matthew left for a 10-day wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside at 1383 Bonnie View avenue, Lakewood. For traveling the bride wore a dull green and white ensemble with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Matthew was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and the Mansfield Office Training school. She has been employed in the Central National park in Cleveland at the West 25th street branch. Mr. Matthew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Matthew of Ottumwa, Iowa, was graduated from Iowa State university and is employed at the Internal Revenue department of the federal government in Cleveland.

Guests in attendance from Mansfield were Atty. and Mrs. Culp, Miss Katherine Culp, Lionel Culp, Sterling Culp, Miss Jane Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Theaker and daughter, Sandra.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"It happened one day when we were at luncheon in that queer foreign East Side restaurant," Mary began. "We weren't very far along with the eats, so Steve hadn't had time to get oiled enough to begin talking his revolutionary theories. But he was handing me a super-extra line of devotion, so he didn't see his double, who was at a table across the room from the booth where we were sitting."

"His double," I echoed, while my pulses began to play a tattoo against my wrist at this corroboration of my own experience.

She looked at me sharply. Mary is exceedingly keen, and unusual nuances of tone always intrigue her.

"You say that almost as if you'd seen him yourself," she said.

In my talk with her about Nancy Carew's memoranda concerning Redfield, I had not mentioned my own discovery—that the collegiate-type gangster who had tried to get Marion's letter away from me strongly resembled Redfield. I would remedy that a little later, I told myself. Just now, I wanted nothing else but the continuance of Mary's tale.

Looked Exactly Like Steve.

"Perhaps I have," I said. "But that's not important now. Go on with your story. And when you say 'double' do you mean an exact resemblance, or simply a strong one, such as one often sees between people totally unknown to each other?"

I had a reason for my question, and I waited impatiently for her answer. Was it possible that Mary had seen the gangster who only a few hours ago had tried murderously to take Marion's letter to Ronald away from me? But the two men distinctly were not "doubles." They simply bore a strong resemblance to each other.

"I'll say I mean an exact resemblance," Mary retorted. "They were what Mrs. Ticer would call 'the spittin' image' of each other. If they had been identical twins they couldn't have looked more alike.

"Double's" Veneer Thinner.

"Except" — Mary's tone was thoughtful, even analytical now—"there was the queerest difference between them. It was as if they'd started out the same, and gone along for awhile, and then the double had stayed put while Steve had gone into another world altogether.

"I can't explain it, I'm afraid," she went on, "but there were little things. Steve was in every detail what the well-dressed, well-bred man should wear. The double was what some would-be expert had told him was the thing in snappy clothes. It was as if Steve had been veneered so thick with proper upbringing that the veneer was almost crack proof, whereas the other chap had just a thin coat of it."

"I think you're explaining it very well," I told her, "and it fits in with what Nancy Carew revealed about the college and artistic training Redfield received. I think we're distinctly on the track of something, thanks to you and Nancy Carew. Let's go on from there. I suppose the double spoke to Redfield."

Doesn't Speak at First.

"Not at first, he didn't," Mary answered. 'When I first saw him he was staring across at us, evidently playing that old game of trying to will Steve into looking at him.

"When he saw me looking at him —I'm afraid I goggled openly— he looked quickly down at his plate and pretended to be interested in his food.

"After that, you can bet I kept my eyes down, and used your trick of looking under your eyelashes at people you want to watch undetected. You needn't blush. It's a clever trick. I caught on to it long ago, and I practiced until I'm pretty nifty at it, if I do say so myself."

"Mary, Mary, you're incorrigible!" was all I could murmur. I had not dreamed she had observed the ruse which had served me so well so many times.

Calls Steve "Stepan."

"Yes, I'm a fresh brat," she said complacently. "But I get there—sometimes" she added a bit ruefully, evidently at some remembrance of a time when she didn't "get there."

"Well, an-ny-way," she went on, "this double of Steve's and I played peek-a-boo at each other for quite a spell. At least, I did the peeking and he watched me for a while; and then, evidently convinced I'd lost interest in him, he kept trying to get Steve's attention.

"But he got no soap, and when we stood up, ready to go, he came quickly across to us, got on Steve's other side, away from me, touched his arm and said softly: 'Stepan, I must see you a minute.'"

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

After West leads the spade 3, East putting on the Q, how would you play this hand at 3-No Trumps in the South if the opponents had done no bidding? How if West had stuck in a shady informative double during the bidding, to which East replied with a spade bid?

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

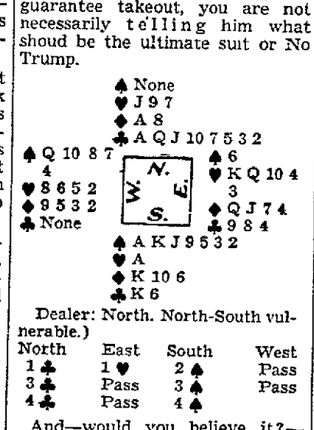
BY

Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

BIDS ARE NOT WISHES

Anybody knows that the bid of a suit ordinarily guarantees possession of at least four cards in it, that a rebid of it shows you have at least five. A third bid of the suit indicates ordinarily at least six cards. But that does not necessarily constitute expression of your wish to play the hand in that suit. Much less does it constitute absolute insistence that your partner let you be the declarer. What you have done is to give him information, to be acted upon in the light of his own holdings. Even if you jumped the first time you bid the suit, with a game-guarantee takeout, you are not necessarily telling him what shoud be the ultimate suit or No Trump.



Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♥	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	4 ♠

And—would you believe it?—North passed at that point. West was smart enough to refrain from doubling, and led his diamond 2 to the J and K. The spade A and K told South the bad news about trumps. There was no way to keep the defenders from cashing three tricks in spades and one in diamands, so the contract was set a trick.

South fairly seethed during the post-mortem, over his partner's failure to bid clubs again or use the Blackwood slam convention, which was part of the pair's bag of tricks. If North had bid 5-Clubs, South would have gone to 6-Clubs and seven would have been made. If North had used the Blackwood 4-No Trumps, South would have shown two aces with 5-Hearts. The 5-No Trumps then would have brought a response of 6-Spades, showing three kings. North then could have felt almost sure of 13 tricks being in sight, and could have made a bold bid of 7-No Trumps.

But then, North said: "You insisted on playing it at spades, so what could I do?" What could poor South have done?

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, Aug. 26.

According to the lunar transits of this day there should be excellent opportunity for forging ahead to desired goals and fulfilled ambitions, with the prospect of those in power and financial standing ready to assist important projects. However, there may be a tendency to reckless, impetuous passionate and intemperate conduct that might prove a disturbance if not a fatal hindrance. With calmness, some changes in plans or place, and by tact and strategy rather than forcing issues, there may be success. Public contacts and objectives should flourish.

Those whose birthday it is should be able to count on a year of definite success, with promotion, favors and substantial support from those in high places, providing they curb an urge to be rash, impulsive, quarrelsome and generally intemperate and aggravating. Tempest, haste and fury would decisively defeat important objectives, while deliberation, tactfully yielding, well-organized strategy might bring surprising triumphs. Large organizations, public bodies, and some change of plans and details might be factors in fine success. Let finesse rather than force be the keynote for fruitful action.

A child born on this day should be enterprising and ambitious, bent on attaining high goals and eminent position, but unrestrained, impetuous and strenuous behavior might nullify very lucky prospects.

If onions are strong, slice them and soak them 10 minutes in iced water with a little sugar in it—a tablespoon of sugar to a quart of water. This does not sweeten the onions but does remove some of the strong flavor.

CHAPTER XIII

Gay and April put Cherry to bed while Curt De Witt phoned for his physician. Doctor Sylvester Harkness said Cherry was suffering from nervous shock, and that she would have to spend several days in bed.

Through the doctor and Curt's attorney it was arranged so that Cherry did not have to go again to Manhattan to appear at the police investigation into further details of the attempted suicide. That afternoon her statement was taken at her bedside, in the presence of Doctor Harkness, who was firm in his demand that the girl was not to be excited.

Cherry hysterically demanded that all the papers be brought to her, and April decided she would be only more upset if she didn't get her way. So, reluctantly they took them in to her bed. The scandalous headlines that screamed at the terrified girl sent her off into fresh torrents of tears. But even greater than her own shame was the horror that came to her when she looked at the beautiful young face of Patsy Lloyd smiling at her from every front page in New York. Suppose she had taken her own life.

Patsy had left a farewell note in her room for Si Winters telling him she loved him so much she couldn't live without him, and to please forgive her for what she was about to do. She asked him not to forget the wonderful times they once had together, and to keep the locket she was enclosing with her picture always.

There was another hysterical note written "To Whom It May Concern" in which little Patsy warned any young girl who thought she would find happiness and fame in New York to stay at home and listen to her parents.

"You will only break your hearts," Patsy had written dramatically in a childish hand. "Believe me, I know. Rich men have no respect for poor girls." A woman reporter had found the notes on Patsy's dressing table.

* * *

Patsy had come from a small town in Pennsylvania only two years before. She had been fortunate in having a photographic face that helped her to earn a living as a photographer's model. Her black hair was a riot of curls, and her eyes big and dark and sparkling with youth.

The doctor had left sedatives for Cherry, but everytime she closed her eyes she again saw Patsy trying to jump from the penthouse terrace and heard her scream. April had been compelled to go over to New York to get ready for her broadcast, but Gay sat beside her bed almost constantly, holding her hand and trying to soothe her. Every few minutes Hyacinthe would come to the door and shake her kinky head sorrowfully, asking if there wasn't something she could do.

Late that evening a disheveled Pat Hastings arrived in his car from Virginia. He had driven all day. When Gay opened the door she was amazed to see the young attorney.

"Why Pat!" she reached out and put her arms around him. "It's nice to see you. Come in."

"How's Cherry?" Pat asked whitely. "Is she all right? Do the police still have her in custody?"

"She's here," Gay took hold of his coat. "Here take your coat off and sit down, and I'll have Hyacinthe fix you something to eat while we talk. I know you're starved. I'll bet you haven't stopped to eat any dinner."

"I haven't eaten since I left home," Pat admitted. "I couldn't have swallowed a bite. Do you reckon Cherry will want to see me, Gay? Oh will I just upset her. I was so crazy when Jim Hide from the Roanoke Gazette called me at 4 o'clock in the morning and told me what had happened to Cherry I just dressed and got in my car and started drivin.' I didn't even remember she'd told me to stay away and mind my own business."

Hyacinthe stood in the doorway.

"Did I heah you all say somethin' about Mistah Pat bein' hongry, Miss Gay?" the old colored woman beamed on the weary young man in the big chair.

"I reckon I am hungry, thanks Hyacinthe. How have you been?"

"Jes fine, Mistah Pat, jes fine. Now I'se gwine shuffle 'round and fix you all a big feed. It won't take me no time a'tall."

When Hyacinthe's fat form had disappeared toward the kitchen Gay sighed:

"It's been a terrible shock to Cherry, Pat. She's a wreck. But she's under the care of a wonderful doctor and he says if she stays in bed a few days she'll be all right. She's asleep now. I gave her an extra sleeping pill. Poor darling."

"How do you think she'll feel about my coming?" Pat asked uncomfortably. "Maybe she'll just hop all over me for interferin'."

"I don't think so," Gay shook her red head. "I rather believe this experience has taken a little of the wind out of Miss Cherry's sails. She's a pretty subdued girl. Do you know Pat, this is an awful thing to say, maybe, but I think a shock like this is just what Cherry needed. Something to wake her up before she makes a mess out of her life."

Pat said thoughtfully: "You might be right, if it has any permanent effect on her."

"Cherry is just a fresh brat," Gay told him. "She's been showing off. For one thing she's always been told she was beautiful. She's too conceited about her looks, and too sure of herself. But underneath it all, Cherry has some very good qualities."

"She certainly has," Pat agreed. "She never has had me fooled with her high jinks. I know her too well."

Pat went to the dinette to eat and Gay hurried back into the bedroom to see about Cherry. In a little while she roused, opening her eyes with a little moan.

Gay patted her hand: "I'm here, darling. Would you like a nice drink of ice water?"

"I guess so," Cherry said weakly. "Is April back yet."

"She will be soon," Gay raised her head and held the glass to her feverish lips. "There's somebody here to see you from home. He's having a bite to eat now."

Cherry closed her eyes, and asked very low:

"Is it—is it Pat?"

Send ten cents in coin for this pattern to The Mansfield News-Journal, Needlecraft department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

Fashion has no time or place limits in a really smart woman's life! That's why Pattern 9739 by Marian Martin is such a perfect choice for about-the-house purposes. Its button-front style has all the wearing and laundering convenience you need in a home-mode, yet it's smart and new in detail. Pointed, low-cut side-front bodice sections give those long-waisted lines that have such a slenderizing effect on the figure. There's nice panelling at both front and back skirt. You might show off the attractive collar and the optional halfcuffs by having them in fresh novelty-edged contrast . . . say pique or linen.

Pattern 9739 may be ordered only in women's sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4¾ yards 35 inch fabric, ⅜ yard contrast and 1⅜ yards edging.

Send fifteen cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address, and style number.

Send your order to The Mansfield News-Journal, Pattern department, 232 W. 18th street, New York, N. Y.

Tenth Inning Home Run By Mutryn Wins for Braves

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Well, good afternoon, here I am back, disturbing your peace again.

"You said it chum, you said it."

Who said that? If it isn't my public? How are you Mr. P? And how have you been enjoying my vacation?

"Just dandy. For one whole week I've been able to turn to this page without having that moon mug up in this corner to disturb my tranquility."

* * *

Oh, so you don't like that moon mug? My friend, it's the best I've got and I'm stuck with it.

"You don't have to have it hangin' out that way all the time. You could run and hide, you know."

You're wrong there, Mr. P. At my age I could hide, but I couldn't run.

* * *

"Okay, crawl then, if you're in your second childhood."

* * *

How do you like that? Mr. P. I thought you were my pal and look what you're doing to me! And on Monday too! Have a heart Mr. P.

"I've got a heart, as big as a sport editor's. Which is something you could cover with a dime if you had a dime."

Now you've hit me where it hurts Mr. P. I'm just off vacation and stony as the rock-ribbed shores of Maine. But maybe I can borrow a dime sometime and then I'll find out how large a heart can be.

* * *

"What is this anyhow? A sports column or a letter to your old maid aunt? You should be coming back from your vacation all full of vim and vigor and stuff, and right up to the minute on sports. What have you been doing all this time?"

Well Mr. P., last Monday I took a busman's holiday and went to a ball game. From there on I haven't been any closer to the sports world than you could shake a golf stick at. Which is very ungrammatical, and doesn't make much sense, but I hope it conveys the meaning. For a whole week I haven't known or cared what went on in the sports world, but I'll catch up in a day or two.

"I've written your column for you today. Now do me a favor, willya pal? Don't wind it up with one of those silly jingles."

* * *

Poor Mr. P. his nerves a-tingle,
He doesn't like to read this jingle.

Minneapolis Vet Blanks Toledo 5-0

(By Associated Press)

Harry Kelley, capable and veteran right-handed pitcher who won 16 games and lost 9 for the Minneapolis Millers last year, put an end to a string of seven losses yesterday by blanking the Toledo Mud Hens on five hits, 5 to 0, in the second game of a doubleheader. Toledo took the first contest, 4 to 2.

* * *

Kansas City pulled up to tie the Millers for third place by taking a twin bill from Louisville, 11 to 9 and 7 to 4 in seven innings.

* * *

Columbus stretched its lead over second-place Louisville to 8½ games by copping a doubleheader at St. Paul, 21 to 4 and 8 to 1. The Red Birds scored 17 runs in the first four innings of the opener and the Saints were in such bad shape that Manager Red Kress put himself on the mound for the last three innings, yielding only one run. Murry Dickson pitched his 19th victory for the flock.

Indianapolis dropped the first game to Milwaukee, 8 to 7, and then scored 10 runs in the fifth inning of the second encounter to wrap up a 12 to 9 victory.

WINS SPEEDBOAT CROWN IN STRAIGHT HEATS

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (AP) — Joe Taggert, Canton, O., speedboat driver who won the national sweepstakes, holds the Class A 225-cubic inch championship of international speedboat regatta.

Taggert drove his hydroplane, Tommyann III, to straight heat victories yesterday against a field which included many of the other leading United States and Canadian racers in the Sandy Beach Yacht club's regatta on Niagara river.

Indians Move Into Third Place

Bob Feller Seeks 22nd Against Boston.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The rejuvenated Indians, victorious in four of their last five games, ordered Bob Feller to the hill tonight against Boston in Cleveland's final game under the lights. Feller, seeking his 22nd triumph of the season, drew Charley Wagner for a pitching opponent.

* * *

Manager Roger Peckinpaugh's boys jumped back into third place—only one game behind the runnerup White Sox—by stopping the Red Sox twice, 4 to 3 and 5 to 2, before 16,287 fans yesterday.

* * *

The tussels were southpaw battles, with Al Milnar shading Mickey Harris in the opener and Al Smith outpitching Earl Johnson in the finale. It was victory No. 10 for Milnar and the ninth for Smith.

* * *

Ken Keltner's 20th homer started the Tribe toward its first decision. The other three runs came on singles by Lou Boudreau and Jeff Heath, a walk and Joe Cronin's wild throw. Cleveland's remaining five hits off Harris were well scattered.

Milnar meanwhile pitched three-hit ball for eight innings. The Sox pushed over three runs on four hits in the ninth and Jim Bagby had to rescue big Al by getting pinch-hitter Stan Pence on a pop foul.

Roy Weatherly's bat figured prominently in the five runs which gave Smith his victory. In the third inning, "Little Thunder" doubled with Rollie Hemsley on first base and both scampered home on Gerry Walker's single. Russ Peters singled to open the sixth and Weatherly promptly beat out a neat bunt in front of the plate.

* * *

Long after this season is over and the stirring struggle of the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers for the National league pennant has been settled, one thrill will remain for 31,000 baseball fans.

* * *

For the fanatics packed into Ebbets field at yesterday's crucial doubleheader between the foremost rivals of the senior circuit, the season reached a high point when Whitlow Wyatt singled in the ninth inning to snatch a 3-2 victory in the face of encroaching darkness and save Brooklyn's game and a half lead over the Cardinals, who had swept majestically to a 7-3 triumph in the first encounter.

It was a finish lifted right out of a scenario. The teams were playing for big stakes and the St. Louis victory in the opener had cut the Dodgers' lead to a half-game. Wyatt, a grand veteran, was wrapped in a breathless pitching duel with 20-year-old Howard Pollet.

The score was tied when the Dodgers came to bat in the ninth. Peewee Rees laid a perfect bunt down the third base line for a single. Mickey Owen sacrificed with an equally-effective bunt down the first-base line.

Then Manager Leo Durocher came trotting in from the coaching box and put his arm around Wyatt. The fans expected a pinch-hitter. Instead Durocher let Wyatt bat for himself. The conference, he said later, was just to tell Wyatt to wait for a curve ball.

The curve came on the first pitch and Wyatt, who swings the heaviest bat on the Brooklyn club, met it squarely. It was a single that shot straight into center and put the Dodgers back in a commanding position for the rest of this series, a game today and another tomorrow. The victory was Wyatt's 17th.

The Cincinnati Reds gained a game on both the leaders by trouncing the New York Giants, 13-9, and 6-4.

The flying Phillies cut down the Chicago Cubs twice 8-5 and 7-6, while the Pittsburgh Pirates split with the Boston Braves. Boston took the 12-inning opener, 4-3, and Pittsburgh the nightcap 7-3, in six stanzas.

The New York Yankees swamped the second-place White Sox, 5-1 and 8-5. The St. Louis Browns put the Washington Senators through a 4-3 10-inning wringer to bounce from the cellar into sixth place, and Al Benton pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 7-4 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Galion Squad Holds Reunion

1917 Gridders Recall Old Times at Outing.

GALION—For the first time in 24 years, a reunion was held yesterday by the 1917 football team of Galion high school. Members of the team brought their wives and children for the day. More than half of the team were present and enjoyed reminiscences of high school days.

Present for the day besides the team and their families were H. C. Plott of Columbus, coach of the team in 1917, and M. R. Mollencopf of Warren who had been high school coach the year before — 1915-16.

* * *

There were around 40 present for the noon-day dinner which had been planned by four Galion men, George Flick, Herbert Helfrich, Clyde Bersinger and Clyde Kunkel.

* * *

Members of the football team present for the occasion included: Frank Sweeney of Mt. Gilead; George Flick, Clyde Bersinger, Charles Monroe, James Angell, Clyde Kunkel, all of Galion; Elra Tracht of Crestline; George Dallas of Berea; Noel Weber of Springfield; K. Ledman of Portsmouth, and Louis Schaefer of Mansfield.

Not present, but also members of the team who had been invited are: Ralph Lonius of Detroit; Stewart Williams whose address is not known; Herbert Helfrich of Galion; Ralph Cass of Dayton; Lee Stewart of Chicago, and George Dunn of Berea.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service)—Well, the Yankees are in. . . . Joe McCarthy, who usually is the last to admit it, came out in the open Saturday when he benched a couple of regulars with the explanation: "They won the pennant and so are entitled to a short layoff." . . . Looks like the National will keep going, as usual, right to the last minute. . . . Wonder what Larry (The Other Lip) McPhail thinks now of his failure to include Dixie Walker and Whit Wyatt among the guys who are responsible for keeping the Brooks on top. . . . Lot of the other clubs are busier guessing how many guys, including managers, will have their jobs next year than they are playing ball games. . . . Word from Detroit is that there'll be plenty of axe work on the salary list if the Tigers don't make the first division. . . . Cleveland writers now are calling 'em "Peck's sad boys" . . . and a tipoff on the Tribe's collapse is that Jimmy Dykes does his managing from the bench against all the other clubs but gets out in the coaching box against the Indians to make sure they won't miss one of his cracks. . . .

* * *

RHYMED SPORTS REVIEW.

Jones' boys versus Ryder Cuppers made golf fans go without their suppers. . . . Twelve thousand of 'em raised a din to see their hero, Bobby, win. . . . Cards and Dodgers split a pair with pennant fever in the air. . . . Louis-Nova fight set back when Joe got off the training track. . . . Derby goes to Whirlaway and forty-five grand isn't hay.

* * *

PEOPLE YOU KNOW

Al Schacht will miss his first World series in 21 years this fall; he's heading for Hawaii instead. . . . Friends of the late Howard Jones have launched a movement for a memorial to him, probably in the Rose Bowl where Jones-coached teams won five times. . . . Word from Milwaukee is that Lou Novikoff will be recalled by the Cubs as soon as the Brewers finish their American Association schedule, even though Lou's fielding has left a lot to be desired. . . . Heinie Manush, managing the Greensboro club, has been chased out of every Piedmont league park by the umps this season. . . . Heinie put himself into a game as a pinchhitter the other night and busted it up with a healthy poke, so now he threatens to return as a regular.

Ohio Teams Eliminated

Semi-Pro Teams Lose In National Tourney.

WICHITA, Kans. —(AP)— Ohio's two entries in the National Semi-Pro baseball tournament have been eliminated.

* * *

The Columbus State Hospital team was erased last night as Worcester, Mass., Nortons pounded out an 8-0 victory. A six-run outburst in the first inning proved Columbus' undoing.

* * *

The Lancaster Anchor-Hocking Glass squad was beaten 4 to 3 by Brackenridge (Penn.) Allegheny Ludlum Steel Saturday night for its second loss.

The Pennsylvanians scored three runs in the first inning against Lancaster, and although the Ohio team got two back in the fifth, Brackenridge added the winning marker in its half of the fifth.

* * *

Lancaster managed to squeeze one run across in the seventh and had victory within grasp but Frank Daubermire fanned with the sacks loaded to retire the side.

* * *

The Ohioans made six hits off Abe Shaffler while Frank Miller allowed Brackenridge eight.

A strong wind came up in the sixth inning making fly balls difficult to field in the closing frames. The game was called because of rain in the first half of the eighth.

Nelson Booked For Ohio PGA Tourney

CINCINNATI —(AP)— It seems that Byron Nelson is going to take in the Ohio P. G. A. Open golf tournament here Tuesday and Wednesday after all, so the field of 40 or so pros and amateurs will have to sharpen up somewhat if it is planned to take his title away from him.

* * *

Nelson, defending champion and former national open titlist, said in Toledo last night that he would be here for the 72-hole medal competition over the Losantiville course.

* * *

Other pro entries include Billy Burke of Cleveland, also a former national open champ; Al Espinosa of Akron, Rodney Monday of Toledo, Johnny Malutic of Toledo, Bob Shreve of Cleveland, and Doug Hill of Cincinnati.

Maurice J. McCarthy, jr., of Cincinnati, former state champion, leads the amateur contingent.

LIKES TEXAS ELEVEN

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — (AP)—Coach Homer H. Norton, whose Texas A. & M. football team beat Fordham in the January Cotton Bowl game at Dallas, picks Texas to be the Southwest Conference's top team this fall. "Southern Methodist, Rice and maybe Baylor should be a step behind," he said.

WHIRLY IN SIXTH SPOT AS MONEY WINNER

CHICAGO —(AP)— Whirlaway, Warren Wright's bushy tailed cannonball of the turf, is on the trail of Seabiscuit's record as the leading money winner in American racing history.

The Calumet colt vaulted into sixth place among equine earners Saturday as he added the $44,975 first place money in Washington park's American Derby to his bankroll. That brought his total for less than two years of campaigning to $320,611, compared to Seabiscuit's record of $437,730.

OSU Grads Find Places

Trained Physical Education Students Get Jobs.

COLUMBUS — Graduates of Ohio State university's department of physical education are having no trouble in finding employment in their chosen field.

* * *

Out of 25 men graduated in June, 24 are either employed or will be when the public schools open next month, and the one remaining graduate is expecting no difficulty in finding a place. The list of graduates includes the names of several well known Ohio State athletes.

* * *

Six of the men are serving as petty officers in the United States navy, as part of Gene Tunney's recreation division. They are Robert Johnson, John Higgins, Elwood Woodling, and Brud Cleaveland, all former Buckeye swimming stars; Vic Marino, ex-gridder, and Myron Overholt. Another graduate in the service is Mike Milkovitch, recreation officer attached to the Sumter hospital at Fort Knox, Ky.

Three of the graduates will report to colleges this fall. Jimmy Langhurst, last year's football captain, goes to Connecticut Wesleyan as assistant to Wesley Fesler, another former Buckeye star. Robert Kretchmar goes to Hanover college in Indiana, and Richard Clark will be employed by Oberlin college.

Two of the physical education majors will enter Y. M. C. A. work, Wade McBride at Columbus, and Leonard Kjellman, at Fostoria.

However, the majority of the group will coach and teach physical education in Ohio high schools. These men, and the schools with which they will be connected are: Tom Welbaum, Bedford; Dan Dillon, Amanda; Jack Ryan, Fremont; Lenny Thom, University school, Columbus; Frank Howe, Sunbury; Richard O'Neill, Corning; Charles Thackara, Grandview; Richard Zahn, University school, Cleveland; Tony Montonero, Union-Scioto school, Chillicothe, and Walter Gregg, New Athens.

Page Dairies Retain Title

Defeat Youngstown and Ashland In Tourney.

TOLEDO—(U.P.)—The strong Toledo Page Dairy softball team with its sensational young hurler, Lenny Dembrowski, today left no doubt as to who should represent Ohio in the approaching national tournament.

The Dairys swept to the state title yesterday with an afternoon semi-final victory over the Ashland Faultless Rubber Co., 2 to 1, and a one-hit 2 to 0 win last night over the Youngstown General Fireproofing entry. The championship blow was Walter Smolenski's two-run homer.

* * *

The lone hit charged against Dembrowski, who hurled the night contest, was the first he had allowed in three tournament games. He fashioned a no-hitter against the Fostoria Barsteds Saturday and last year turned the same trick in the semi-finals of the state meeet at Massillon.

The one run scored by Ashland was the only one given up in the tourney by the Dairys. In taking the title they defeated the National Guarantee and Finance Co., of Columbus, 4 to 0; Fostoria Barsteds, 5 to 0; Ashland, 2 to 1; and Youngstown 2 to 0.

Youngstown advanced to the finals by eliminating the Lima Westinghouse club, 4 to 3. Abe Bernard's home run in the fifth inning was the margin of victory.

MANSFIELD BULLDOGS WIN FIRST HONORS

Two bulldogs, owned by J. R. Harnley, 528 South Main street, took first honors at the Chagrin Valley Kennel club dog show yesterday at the Chagrin Valley Hunt club.

Atlas Storm Brewer won the blue ribbon in the nine to 12 month puppy class. His dame, Atlas Home Brewess, won the blue ribbon in the American bred bitch class.

Both dogs won trophies and cash prizes as well. There were 45 bulldog entries in the show which had an entry list of 983 breeds.

Slugger Johnny Mize of the St. Louis Cardinals still holds the all-time National League record for bases on balls in a double-header —six. This happened in 1939 at Philadelphia. He also got three hits and was put out only once all day.

Five-Game Streak Kept Intact By Circuit Blow

Fremont Green Sox Come to Town Tonight for Crucial Series

The drive is on. Mansfield's hustling Braves chalked up their fifth straight win yesterday at Lima, 7 to 6 in ten innings, and gained half a game on the rained-out, Ohio State league leading Fremont Green Sox, and now trail Chappie Geygan's gang by just four games.

Tonight at 8 o'clock they tangle with the Emerald Hose at the fairground in the first of a three-game series which will make or break the Braves in their drive for the second-half league championship as they head down the last week stretch of the campaign.

Tomorrow night they're booked for a double header at Fremont.

Pat Patterson had been scheduled to hurl tonight's JAC benefit game at the yard, but both Pat and Chuck Byers were called on yesterday to save Freddy Wolpert's game for him, Byers getting credit for the win. So tonight it'll be southpaw Irish Kuzava on the hill as the JAC and Mansfield's Cub Scouts fill the stands. Cubs are admitted free, with the hope that they'll bring their parents along.

* * *

Eddie the Mighty Man Mutryn kept the Braves' winning streak intact yesterday with a home run wallop over the centerfield fence, 400 feet away in the tenth inning. A little boy in Delphos, O. picked up the marble in his back yard while Lima fans were walking home, shaking their heads and still talking about the mighty blow.

* * *

The Braves gave Wolpert a six run lead in the first two frames, but the Pandas came charging back with two runs in the third and they kept pecking away until they pushed over the tying run in the ninth.

Patterson halted a Lima rally in the eighth, relieving Wolpert with one run in and runners on first and second and two out, but Pat didn't have his usual stuff and Byers was called on to finish the game after Pat connected for a single in his one time at bat.

Byers and Coleman are scheduled to work tomorrow night's doubleheader at Fremont.

Liberties Stop Plymouth Club

Winbigler Fans 19 To Halt Locomotives, 10-3.

Young Bob Winbigler lead the Liberties to a 10-3 victory over the Plymouth Locomotives yesterday at Liberty park as he fanned 19 batters, walked three and gave up five hits.

The Liberties shelled Martin Plymouth hurler from the mound in the second frame. He was replaced by Free who held the Liberties in check throughout the remainder of the game.

Ed Chatlain and Emmer led the Liberties assault both connecting with two out of four. The Liberties picked up nine bingles from the combined offerings of Martin and Free.

Bobby Jones Comes Back

Leads Challengers To Defeat Ryder Cuppers.

DETROIT—(U.P.)—Members of a record-breaking gallery of a precedent-shattering Ryder Cup meet talked mostly about a man named Jones today.

Of the many features of the United Service organizations' benefit meet, the performance of Grand Slam Bobby was supreme. With a few wizardly swings of irons and woods at the Detroit Golf club, the 39-year-old Georgia attorney demonstrated that he still is one of golf's greatest competitors after 11 years' retirement.

* * *

Jones, who organized and captained the challengers, inspired them to their 8½ to 6½ victory over Walter Hagen's Ryder Cuppers. Bobby and veteran Gene Sarazen took an eight and six drubbing in Saturday's Scotch foursomes. Likewise, the entire all-star team lagged, three to two.

* * *

At the nine-hole turn in yesterday's individual tests, Jones trailed Henry Picard four holes. His men were down three matches. But on the second nine, the Georgian turned on the steam and squared the duel. His team duplicated and was all even at noon.

At lunch Bobby delivered a pep talk to his boys, then proceeded to whip Picard two and 1.

Teammates Craig Wood, Ben Hogan, Jimmy Demaret, Clayton Heafner, and Denny Shute rolled over their Ryder foes to pick up enough points to erase Saturday's deficit and win the meet. Lawson Little tossed in a half point for good measure when he halved his match with Cupper Slammin' Sammy Snead.

The youngest player ever to represent the National League in the All-Star game was Pete Reiser, freshman centerfielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Pete was 21 only a few months before the recent mid-summer classic at Detroit.

Ontario Stopped By Willard VFW Club

Ontario dropped a 4-3 tilt yesterday to the Willard V. F. W. club at Willard.

Despite a two-run rally in the eighth and a flurry of hits in the ninth that loaded the bases but produced only one marker, Ontario was unable to overcome the Vets' four-run lead.

Kenny Lockhart and Miller did the heavy work for Ontario as the visitors outhit the Willard nine to three.

THEATERS

Hardy Comedy.

What happens when the apparently self-sufficient Andy Hardy cuts loose from Carvel and tries to crack New York for a job following his high school graduation is amusingly depicted in "Life Begins For Andy Hardy," showing at the Ohio. Starring Mickey Rooney in his popular role of "Andy," the picture presents Judy Garland as guest star in the part of a girl always ready to go to bat for Andy. Lewis Stone and Fay Holden as the Hardy parents, Ann Rutherford and Patricia Dane are others in the cast.

* * *

Ozark Drama.

Harold Bell Wright's lusty tale of the Ozarks, "The Shepherd of the Hills," is showing at the Madison with Harry Carey in the title role. Filmed in Technicolor the picture deals with a young mountaineer's oath to kill the man who wrecked his mother's life even though he had to forsake romance to do it. John Wayne and Betty Field play the mountaineer couple caught in the toils of an age-old feud. Fists fly in the picture with Wayne and Ward Bond staging one of the most realistic fights since the days of William Farnum and Tom Santschi.

* * *

Powell-Loy Hit.

"Love Crazy," the William Powell-Myrna Loy picture showing at the Ritz presents Powell as a husband who hits upon the plan of acting insane so that his wife cannot divorce him. It's all in fun but the doctors called on the case do not think it's so funny. Gail Patrick, an old girl friend of Powell's starts the trouble and Jack Carson and Sidney Blackmer are others in the cast. Humphrey Bogart's thrilling picture, "The Wagons Roll At Night," is the co-feature.

* * *

Modern Comedy.

When a millionaire department store owner sets about making a private investigation of personnel troubles in his establishment the fun begins in the current Park attraction, "The Devil and Miss Jones," starring Jean Arthur. Charles Coburn plays the store owner who is mistaken for a bewildered old man by one of his bright young employes, Jean Arthur, and is taken under the wing of some of the lesser paid members of the staff who feel sorry for him. Robert Cummings plays the romantic lead opposite Miss Arthur and the cast has Spring Byington. Gene Autry's "Sunset In Wyoming," is the second attraction.

ORDINANCE NO. 41-172

By Mr. Emmons:

An Ordinance determining to proceed with the improvement of Newman Street from Fifth Street to Orange Street by grading the street and paving the roadway with concrete, brick, block, sheet asphalt or other suitable material and constructing the necessary curbing, headers, storm drainage etc., and authorizing the issuance and sale of bonds to pay for said improvement.

Be it Ordained by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, Three-fourths of all the members elected thereto concurring:

Sec. 1. That it is hereby determined to proceed with the improvement of Newman Street from Fifth Street to Orange Street by grading the street and paving the roadway with concrete, brick, block, sheet asphalt or other suitable material and constructing the necessary curbing, headers, storm drainage, etc., in accordance with Resolution No. 41-129 passed 14th day of July, 1941, and in accordance with the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of said improvement heretofore approved and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service of said city.

Sec. 2. That all claims for damages resulting therefrom shall be judicially inquired into after completion of the proposed improvement.

Sec. 3. That the whole cost of said improvement, less one-fiftieth thereof, and cost of intersections shall be assessed by the foot front upon the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement, and the remaining portion of the cost of said proposed improvement shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio.

That to provide a fund for the payment of the portion of the cost and expense for which special assessments are authorized to be levied for the improvement of Newman Street as aforesaid, the Mayor and Auditor be and they are hereby authorized to issue, advertise for sale and sell according to law Twelve Thousand Nine Hundred $12,900.00) Dollars of Street Assessment Bonds of the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in denominations of from 50 to 1000 Dollars each payable in from One to Five years, and bearing interest at the same rate as borne by the bonds to be issued therefor; payable semi-annually.

That to provide a fund to pay that portion of the cost of said improvement which has to be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, the cost thereof to-wit: $900.00 to be taken out of the Registration Fee Fund.

And the proceeds thereof shall be applied to the payment of the cost and expense of said improvement as aforesaid, and to no other purpose whatsoever.

An annual levy shall be made during the term of said bonds in an amount sufficient to pay the interest on the same and to provide a sinking fund for their redemption as they mature.

Sec. 4. That the following lots and lands shall be assessed for said improvement as above determined. All the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said improvement on Newman Street between Fifth Street and Orange Street.

Sec. 5. That upon the sale of said bonds the proceeds thereof, together with the moneys received, if any, from the cash payments of assessments, shall be placed in the City Treasury, the accrued interest and premiums shall be placed to the credit of the sinking fund, and the remaining portion of the purchase price of said bonds shall be placed to the credit of Newman Street improvement fund and disbursed upon proper vouchers in payment of the cost and expense of the improvement aforesaid, and all moneys coming into said Newman Street improvement fund are hereby appropriated for the purpose of said disbursements.

Sec. 6. That the Director of Public Service be and he is hereby authorized and directed to advertise for bids and to make and execute a contract for said improvement with the lowest and best bidder, according to law.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed August 18, 1941.

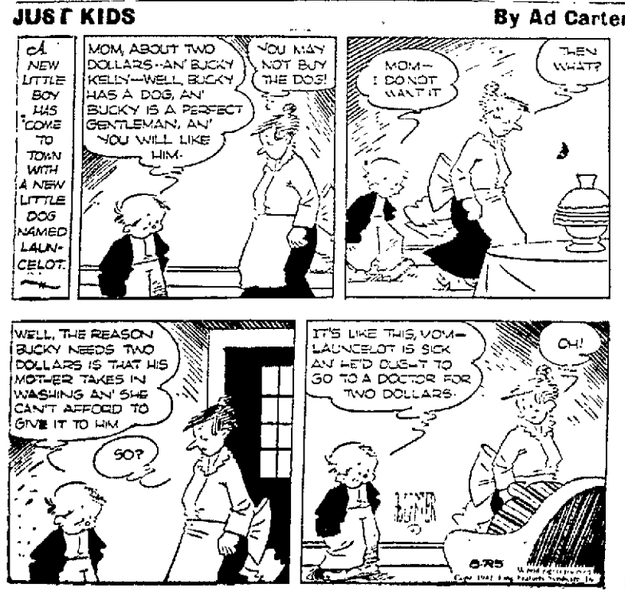
JUST KIDS By Ad Carter



A NEW LITTLE BOY HAS COME TO TOWN WITH A NEW LITTLE DOG NAMED LAUNCELOT.
MOM, ABOUT TWO DOLLARS--AN' BUCKY KELLY—WELL, BUCKY HAS A DOG, AN' BUCKY IS A PERFECT GENTLEMAN, AN' YOU WILL LIKE HIM.
YOU MAY NOT BUY THE DOG!
MOM— I DO NOT WANT IT
THEN WHAT?
WELL, THE REASON BUCKY NEEDS TWO DOLLARS IS THAT HIS MOTHER TAKES IN WASHING AN' SHE CAN'T AFFORD TO GIVE IT TO HIM.
SO?
IT'S LIKE THIS, MOM— LAUNCELOT IS SICK AN' HE'D DUS-T TO GO TO A DOCTOR FOR TWO DOLLARS.
OH!

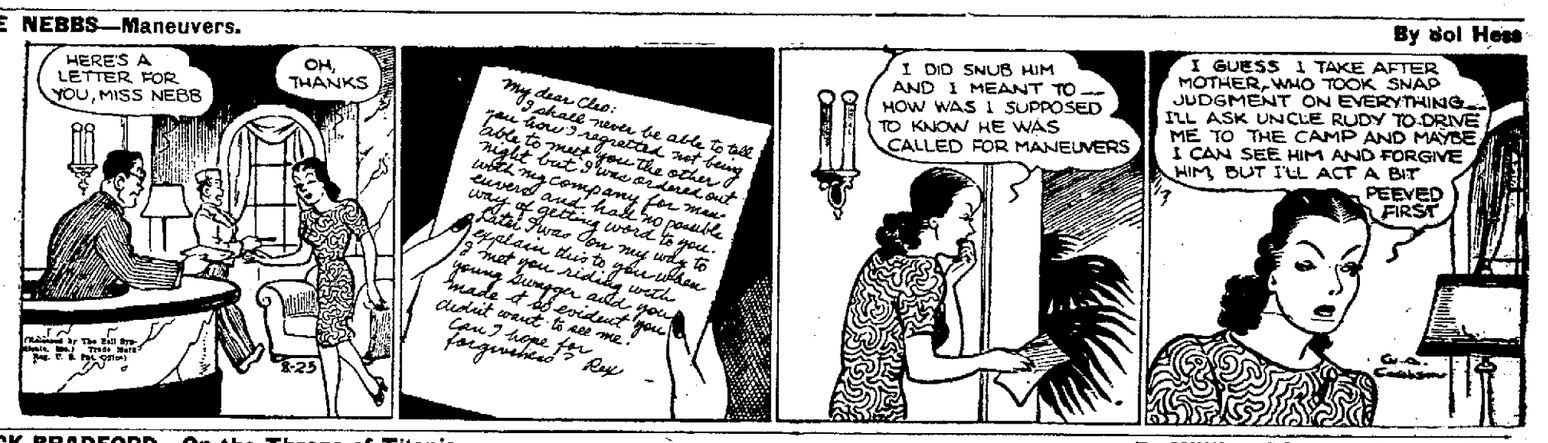
THE NEBBS—Maneuvers. By Sol Hess



HERE'S A LETTER FOR YOU, MISS NEBB
OH, THANKS
8-25
My dear Cleo:
I shall never be able to tell you how I regretted not being able to meet you the other night but I was ordered out with my company for mess and had no possible way of getting word to you. Later I was on my way to explain this to you when I met you riding with young Bumpper and you made it so evident you didn't want to see me. Can I hope for forgiveness? Ray
I DID SNUB HIM AND I MEANT TO— HOW WAS I SUPPOSED TO KNOW HE WAS CALLED FOR MANEUVERS
I GUESS I TAKE AFTER MOTHER, WHO TOOK SNAP JUDGMENT ON EVERYTHING... I'LL ASK UNCLE RUDY TO DRIVE ME TO THE CAMP AND MAYBE I CAN SEE HIM AND FORGIVE HIM, BUT I'LL ACT A BIT PEEVED FIRST

RECOVERY MOVE MADE BY MAJOR STOCKS TODAY

Animation Lacking In Market as Whole; Boardrooms Watch Priority Survey.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Leading stocks made further motions toward recovery in today's market but animation was lacking for the list as a whole. While many issues held at Saturday's final levels, fractional advances were fairly well distributed near the second hour.

Boardroom attention was given to the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that "under the impact of the all-out priority system recently applied to steel in all forms, some civilian plants have been forced to suspend operations on civilian goods."

The review added that, while the situation was not yet at the critical stage, indications were that curtailment in non-defense lines would become widespread with resultant large unemployment during at least a temporary period until adjustments could be made.

Notice also was taken of reports from manufacturing circles that, due to increasing OPM supervision, inventory accumulation by manufacturers has now passed its peak and, in sime divisions, declines have already begun.
